WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, July 2, 1894.
(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

It is putting the case very mildly to say that the democratic managers have been in a state of fright for several days past. Instead of trying to drive the tariff bill to a vote they have actually been scheming to prevent its being pushed to a final vote before they were certain of having the votes to pass it. The adjournment of the Senate from Friday until to-day, after the bill had been reported to the Senate from the committee of the whole, was to enable the democratic managers to put down the revolt against the bill. They have not yet succeeded, but they probably will, and then they will rush the bill for all they know how. The populists are at the head of this revolt but Senators Blanchard, of La., who accuses the democratic managers of breaking their pledges by agreeing to modify the sugar schedule, and Hill, of N. Y., whose plucky fight against the income tax in the face of certain defeat has excited the admiration of [illegible], are both in it up to their ears. This revolt may delay the final vote on the bill for two or three days and may result in a few more concessions being made to get the kickers back into the traces, but there is no good reason to believe that it will affect the final disposition of the bill. The revolt wasn't organized to defeat the bill, but merely to obtain further concessions for those who know that they are in a position to defeat the bill if their demands are finally refused, but who lack the courage to defeat it even if they fail in getting the concessions they are after. After all it matters little in what shape the bill will pass the Senae. The bill that will become a law, if any does, will be shaped by the Conference committee, and it may—probably will—differ as radically from the Senate bill as that does from the Wilson bill as originally passed by the House. In view of the present position of the free traders in the House, it will be surprising if the country knows before the first of August what the new tariff bill would be.

Secretary Gresham did his part to keep the interests of the sugar trust protected by reporting, in answer to Senator Hoar's resolution calling for information on the subject, that the State department had no official information of the intention of Germany, Gautamala, or any other foreign nation to place retaliatory duties upon American products if the present sugar schedule of the tariff bill becomes a law. It is noted as a coincidence that Secretary Gresham's answer made its appearance just as the democrats of the Senate Finance committee were considering the proposed changes in the sugar schedule, which would reduce the profits of the sugar trust.

Senator Sherman is very much in earnest in his attack upon the Pullman Car Company, for such was the resolution, which was adopted by the Senate, directing the committee on interstate commerce to investigate and report upon the advisability of a law for the regulation of the charges made by parlor and sleeping cars, really is. Mr. Sherman characterizes the Pullman Company and the sugar trust as the two most outrageous monopolies we have. He thinks that the charges per mile to be made by the Pullman Co., can be fixed by law, just as the interstate commerce law fixes the charges which interstate railroads may make for carrying passengers, and what is more to the purpose, he says he doesn't intend to stop agitating the matter until a bill carrying out that idea has been reported and passed. To judge by the expressions of opinion by both Senators and Representatives it will not be difficult to get such a bill passed. Senator Sherman says the rate could be made just one-half of what it is now and that the Pullman Company would still make enormous profits.

Secretary Herbert has made a decision that can only be explained by considering him to be absolutely indifferent to the suffering of others. He has decided that the Congressional joint resolution extending the appropriations of the last fiscal year for thirty days into the new fiscal year beginning yesterday on account of the regular appropriations not having been acted upon by Congress, does not apply to the current appropriations for "increase of the Navy" and in consequence orders were issued on Saturday to suspend 1700 men employed in the New York, Norfolk and Mero Island navy yards. Even granting that the decision was technically legal which is doubted, is this a time to deprive 1700 men, a majority of whom have families, of employment when they could just as well have been kept at work? What makes this act seem all the more heartless is the suspicion, so well grounded that it is practically a certainty that partisanship of the rankest kind is at the bottom of it. The Congressional campaign is about to open, and it will doubtless be seen when work is resumed at those navy yards that no man will go back to work who cannot be counted upon to help elect a democratic Congressman.

June's Heated Spell.

If the year were divided into periods according to temperature instead of according to calendar months there would be a sharp line of distinction drawn between the first and latter half of the month that closed with Saturday. Eleven of the first fifteen days of June were unreasonably cold, and weather profits were free with their predictions that we were to pay for our warm, open Winter with a cold Summer. There had been only four days previous to the 16th that could be called June days, and on that date the record showed a loss of 53 degrees of heat for the first half of the month.

But a change came over the situation on the 17th. An area of high pressure appeared on the coast of the South Atlantic and Gulf States, and held its place with little change for nearly two weeks. As a [illegible] in the St. Lawrence Valley nearly the whole of the same time, the natural consequence was a prevalence of southera and southwestern winds, bringing the temperature of this neighborhood nearly to a level of that of South Carolina and Georgia. For fourteen days, beginning with the 17th and including the 30th, there was an average excess of heat of 6 degrees a day, and a total excess during these days of 86 degrees. And yet, as a result of the cold weather of the first half of the month was only 73 degrees, or 1 degree above the average of twenty-three years past.

Such a comparison is evidently misleading, however. A better way to gain an idea of the month's temperature is to compare the number of June days in which the mercury rose above a certain height with the June of some other year. In 1893 there were ten days in June in which the thermometer registered 85 degrees or over, and seven days in which the mean temperature was 80 degrees or over. But in 1894 there were eighteen days in June in which the maximum temperature was 85 degrees or over, and thirteen in which the mean temperature was 80 degrees or over. So June of this year had nearly twice as many warm days as last year's June. But only two days in June, 1893, showed a mean temperature as low as 60 degrees, while the June of 1894 showed five days with a mean temperature at 60 degrees or lower, and one day marked as low as 50 degrees.

The marked difference in temperature between the two halves of the month is apparent the first half, with one day only excepted, belonging with April and the latter half with August. But notwithstanding the higher average temperature of this year's June it brought no such hot day as June 20, 1893 when the thermometer touched 98 degrees and the mean temperature was 85 degrees. There is also a vast difference between the total heat of the first half of last year and this year. On July 1, 1893, the record showed a deficiency in heat for the six months of 333 degrees. On the same date this year there was an excess of heat of 412 degrees, or a difference of 745 degrees, an average of over 4 degrees a day. But the total precipitation for the first half of the two years was almost exactly the same.

A Big Find of Coal.

Wellsboro Gazette: We understand that a six foot and a five foot vein of a fine quality of bituminous coal has been discovered on lands of the Goodyear Brothers on Kettle creek. Extensive arrangements are being made to develop and operate the veins. An exploring party, under the supervision of the Goodyears, report the supply almost inexhaustible, covering an area of several thousand acres.

PRINCIPAL ETTERS' REPORT.

Some Interesting Facts Regarding the Borough Schools.

To the School Board of Bellefonte, Pa.

GENTLEMEN:—I beg leave to offer the following brief report on the condition of the borough schools for the year ending June 7, 1894.

The attendance has exceeded that of last year by more than a hundred pupils. The average daily attendance for the year being about the same as the whole number on the roll last year; and the per centage attendance, 91, is an excellent showing in regularity.

This healthy condition of our schools is due largely to two things—free books, and the recognized excellence of our public schools.

There seems to be no plan to suggest for reaching those families who will profit by the opportunities offered them for schooling their children. The number of children who should attend, but who instead idle away their time about the town, might be safely put at twenty.

It now looks as if the question of accommodations might be a serious one for the coming year. The primary rooms have certainly been very much crowded the past year, and especially the one in the stone building where 127 different pupils attended for some part of the term; the average daily attendance being 72. If no such multitude comes up again this fall, with the promotions made, the school can be handled fairly well, otherwise it will be impossible to do justice to the children.

Again, while it is a fact that in the last ten years, you have succeeded in raising the standard of our schools about three full years, yet the demand for greater efficiency has become so strong that we find ourselves to-day, as much as ever, considering how our work may be arranged so as to afford still better school conditions. Only one way seems open to suggestion, just now; that is to have all the pupils who are within one year of the High School gathered into the same room and placed in charge of a strong teacher. With such a grade more and better work could be [illegible] At first, objection would be raised to such a plan on the ground that pupils might have to pass one building in getting to the other, thus causing a much longer walk in some cases than at present. But with a realization of greater advantages, there would follow the hearty approval of such a step.

In order that as much of the practical as possible may be presented to our boys and girls, it is asked that the board adopt Tilden's Commercial Geography for the use in the High School. Also, that number Tablets be placed in the Intermediate grade. There is now in use in this grade only the primary neutral and it would be well to have some simple written work along with this. The Board might care to entertain the idea of book cases for the several rooms. At present it is almost impossible to keep books from becoming mixed by storing.

The buildings have been well kept, and the surroundings of the stone building are fast nearing a condition when the Board ought to be congratulated on having furnished one of the finest public school grounds in the country.

Thanks are tendered the Board for help and encouragement so promptly and generously given at all times.

Respectfully submitted,
D. O. ETTERS, Supt.

A Theory as to the Skeleton.

The Bellwood correspondent of the Altoona Tribune says: A few days ago Mr. R. H. Fandevender visited his old home in Mapleton. It has been some time since he has been in this vicinity and in conversation with him since his return he states that it is his candid opinion that the skeleton of a man found along the river between Mt. Union and Jacksonville sometime ago, was washed during the last flood, from the graveyard located along the river about one mile east of Mill Creek. He can distinctly remember in former years when there was a rise of this river the earth would be washed away, leaving the ends of the coffins exposed. As the earth where the grave yard once was has been swept away, his supposition seems to be a plausible one, and the skeletons of those interred in this cemetery would naturally be found along this stream. Mr. James Snider, also a former resident of Mapleton, corroborates Mr. Vandevender's supposition.

Mr. Riden Injured.

On Saturday while helping to haul in hay for a farmer near Bellefonte, Jerman Riden, of East Lamb street, had a shoulder dislocated. The men were running the wagon out of the barn floor and Mr. Riden was at the wheel to keep it from going too fast. The wagon got the better of them, Mr. Riden was thrown down and the heavy wagon passed over his shoulder dislocating the bone. He was taken to his home and the injury given the proper surgical attention and he is now getting along as well as can be expected.

Death of Samuel Cherry.

On Sunday morning Mr. Samuel Cherry died at his residence on Valentine street, this place, after a brief illness of dropsy of the heart. He was born January 18, 1837, and was thus aged 57 years, 5 months and 12 days. Mr. Cherry was a locomotive engineer and came to Bellefonte several years ago, being employed in running a passenger engine on the Lewisburg railroad. Several weeks ago he became ill and was obliged to take his bed, but he had grown considerably better. So much so in fact, that he was out and around a little, and no one even dreamed that death was so near. But it came suddenly and without warning early Sunday morning.

Deceased leaves a wife and three children, two sons and one daughter. They are Dory Cherry, also an engineer, living in Bellefonte; John S. Cherry, of Texas, and Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Ward, of Chicago. The funeral will take place at 10 o'clock Thursday morning from the house, interment to be made in the Union cemetery.

3 Days—Excursion on—3 Days, to Eagles Mere.

On Tuesday, July 10th, a special train will leave Bellefonte via the Central R. R. of Penn'a., at 8.00 a. m. arriving at Eagles Mere at 12.10 noon. The excursionists will be allowed a stop of two days at the famous

HOTEL EAGLES MERE.

Fare $6.00 for the round trip which includes hotel charges. Music will be furnished each evening by a full orchestra and the hotel thrown open to the party for dancing. Bathing, boating and other attractive features of the usual summer resort are found at this charming lake 2300 feet above the sea. No cheaper or more attractive excursion will be offered to our people this summer than this jaunt of three days to the Lake of the Eagles.

Baggage may be checked through and [illegible] delivered from and to the trains at Eagles Mere free of charge.

Probably Fatal Accident.

On Thursday afternoon about 4.30, Daniel F. Greaser, employed as a sawyer at Boyer's saw mill near Marklesburg, this county, met with an accident that may terminate fatally. He was dressing a rapidly revolving emery wheel with a file when the wheel burst, and the file was hurled from his hand and penetrated his chest over his lung making a gash seven inches long. Dr. Knode was summoned and dressed the injury, but he has no hopes of the wounded man's recovery.

Mr. Greaser is aged about 40 years and is a married man residing at Clover Creek, Blair county. He was a steady, useful workman, and very kind hearted. He was moved to the residence of Mr. Garner, and everything possible is being done to relieve his suffering.

Hot Weather Advice.

Among the rules which will be well for all to follow in these warm times is to eat slowly and sparingly; not to become overexcited, no matter what the provocation; to bathe frequently; not to eat unripe fruit; do not swallow a pint of ice water every time your throat feels parched; take that same ice water, fill your mouth with it leave it there until it has become warm, then spit it out, then renew it and keep doing so, and long before your ice water is all gone all feeling of thirst will be gone, then you may swallow a mouthful or two if you feel like it. Don't cool off on whisky or other hot drinks; it cannot be done. Keep clean and live prudently.

Coal Mines Resuming.

The Taylor & McCoy mines at Gallitzin, having started up on Friday at the compromise price of forty cents, it is understood that this same firm will fire up their 225 coke ovens. Twelve cars of coal were loaded on Friday.

Operations are resuming this morning at the extensive rolling mills of the Portage iron works, Duncansville, and the iron and nail company of Hollidaysburg. The Roaring Spring paper mill started up last week. These three manufacturing concerns have been closed on account of the scarcity of coal owing to the coal strike. They will give employment to 750 men.

The Railroad Strike.

The Southern Pacific trainmen striking in San Francisco because a couple of thousand workmen 300 miles away are dissatisfied with their wages justify their action by the statement that "the Southern Pacific Company has no business to make Mr. Pullman's fight on the Pacific Coast." Such wrong-headedness and wrong thinking would be past belief if it were less conspicuously and unpleasantly in evidence.

It is the railroad strikers themselves who are trying to extend throughout the whole country the fight of a few workmen in the town of Pullman. The Southern Pacific Company and all the other railways that have been locked up by this senseless strike are making their own fight—not Pullman's. They claim that it rests with themselves what cars they shall haul and that it is not a subject for dictation by their employees. They have nothing to do with Mr. Pullman's alleged fight. They have no interest in it and there is no defensible reason whatever why a local labor quarrel in an Illinois village should disturb and distract the entire United States.

Some twenty-one railroads entering Chicago and the Southern Pacific are directly affected by the strike. Others are embarrassed through their intimate connection or use of tracks or terminals of the boycotted lines. The carrying of the United States mails is interrupted and delayed. At least one of the boycotted lines—the Atchison—is under the protection of the United States Court. This and the interruption of the mails has attracted the attention of the Federal Government. It is hoped that the latter will see its way to interfere with a strong arm. No other power can deal adequately with the difficulty. Inerstate commerce is assailed and interrupted in a most flagrant and unwarranted manner. The strikers who hold up trains because they carry Pullman cars are guilty of as clear a breach of law as those who hold up trains because they carry express cars containing treasure.

The light-hearted and irresponsible way in which this great strike has been undertaken shows that the men engaged in do not understand its gravity. They break gaily with their own employers because other men, who make cars but do not work them, have quarreled with theirs. On this pretext they throw the business of the entire United States into confusion and idly imagine that nothing serious will come of it. The situation must soon become an exceedingly grave one if these strikers do not promptly come to their senses. The railroads could never afford to yield to their demands. A few lines to which Pullman cars are not a necessity may yield, since the sacrifice is to them a slight one, but even these act unwisely. The stronger lines will never yield, and they ought not to. The railroads have enlisted in a war which the law and common sense alike condemn and which the public will condemn roundly as soon as it fairly feels the pinch of the interruption of the channels of commerce.

The End in Sight.

After nearly three months devoted to discussion and amendment in committee of the whole the committee arose yesterday and reported the tariff bill as amended to the Senate. That body very properly took a recess until Monday to allow time for rest, printing of the amendments and a more careful examination of the measure in its many details before the final discussion which will precede the vote upon its passage.

The bill has been amended in some of the most important schedules and must of necessity go to a committee of conference after passing the Senate, but there is good reasons to believe that it will not be much longer delayed either in Senate or committee. The members of both houses are by this time thoroughly familiar with all its details is neither necessary nor probable.

The present advantage of the close of the tariff contest is that it will put an end to all uncertainty as to the business situation and enable all industries to be at once adjusted to the new order of things. A speedy revival of business may be expected in consequence.—Times.

Our Citizen Soldiery.

The troops appear to have served their purpose at Punxsutawney and order having been restored and the coal operators given control of their property once more. Governor Pattison has ordered them home The war has been a bloodless one, for which the people of the entire Commonwealth will be truly grateful.

The ability of the citizen soldiery to restore order in the riotous section without firing a shot is in line with all former experience since Pattison was elected Governor. The troops have been called out frequently, for the past three years have been very turbulent years in the coal and coke sections, but in every instance the appearance of the soldiers on the scene of the rioting put an end to the disturbance at once.

Fatal conflicts between the mobs and the Pinkerton guards and Sheriff's deputies have occurred frequently, but the soldiers have suppressed disorder in every instance without engaging in a bloody conflict with the strikers. This speaks volumes not only for the soldierly qualties of the members of the National Guard, but for the wisdom and discretion exercised by the officers in command.

THE BIG TIE-UP.

President Debs Says He Can Paralyze Business in Chicago If he Desires to Do So.

Chicago, July 2.—Chief of Police Brennan says that the reports of tearing up tracks in various parts of the city have been thoroughly investigated and did not turn out to be true. He received frequent word from his subordinates that the tracks and crossings were well patrolled and that no violence was being attempted. Six Grand Trunk passenger trains are in the yards at Battle Creek and at least 500 passengers are waiting to get out.

"The National Association of Street Employes wired us that it will do everything possible to help us win," said President Debs to-day.

"The president of the Seamen's union came here to-day and reported that his organization was perfectly willing to obey an order for a walk out. The committee of the Standard Oil company employees, also came to us. They stand ready to quit work. The Trade and Labor assembly of Chicago has given us assurance that it will order a general strike on request. That would paralyze the industries of the town, but we have no intention of doing such a thing. Just as long as we can we shall confine this fight to the railroads. This afternoon I issued an order tying up the remainder of the Denver and Rio Grande system. We feel encouraged at the outlook to-day and shall fight on with renewed hope and confidence in our ultimate victory."

When Mr. Debs [illegible] to the rumors that have been in circulation for the past two days to the effect that negotiations looking to a settlement of the strike were being conducted between himself and M. Studebaker for the Pullman company, he declined to answer direct questions, but consented to outline the terms upon which the officers of the union would settle the strike: "First. We will settle with the Pullman company upon any terms that the employes of the company may desire. We will settle with the railroads on the condition that they restore their striking employes to their former places. We want the settlement to take place with all the operations at once. This is a general fight between employes and corporations. The middle people and the working people are with us."

Were They Right.

The West ward election board made a statement in our issue of June 29 as to position on the question of throwing out two votes at the late delegate election. As we have explained, our position in this discussion was not to criticise the board just for the sake of finding fault. Their action, of course, did not change results; but we claimed, and still claim, that the intention of the voter was very plain. They intended to vote instructions; the fact that they cast a vote by mistake that gave instructions for candidates who were not running should have been couted as instructions for those men, although the names on the ticket as delegates were not candidates and could not be candidates in that precinct. Our contention is that the plain intention of the voter in this respect should have been represented; that if Mr. Furst had received a majority of instructions in the district, even though they had been made up partly of such tickets cast plainly by mistake, the instructions would have been for Furst, although the Love delegates would have been elected. To bring the question down to a plain statement of fact, our contention is that the law directs that "the intention of the voter must be taken;" that it is plain these voters intended to vote instructions for Furst or Love, as the case may be, and that their votes should have been counted as was the plain intent of the voter of instructions in accordance as the vote directed.

As to who inspired or wrote the articles that appeared in our paper, we cannot see that has anything to do with the question. Our object in publishing them was to instruct the public upon this question, through the discussion it might provoke. We have no doubt the board acted as they thought was right; but were they right? that is the question.

WILL NOT STARVE.

Galvin Says His Army Will Enter Washington and be Arrested As Vagrants.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The 220 California Coxeyites under Frye and Galvin say that they intend to come into the city and compel the police to arrest them as vagrants, so that they can be fed. Private contributions to their commissary have almost ceased, and as they have no moneyed leader like Coxey, they are on the verge of starvation. The Californians are a pretty determined set of men, very different from the Ohio Coxeyites. Their leader, Galvin, says: "There is one thing about it, we ain't going to starve. Before a man will do that he will beg or steal. But we ain't going to do that either if we can help it. These other crowds have begun to break up and drift out over the country soon after they got here, but we've got a good lot of 220 men here and we're going to hold them together till the rest of the divisions get in. There are several thousand out on the road—Randall, and Sanders, and Aubrey, and Hogan, and Kelly, and a lot more. We will wait for them here if we can in this camp, but if we find we are going to starve here we'll march down into Washington, and every one of us sleep in the streets till they arrest us as vagrants and send us to the workhouse.

"We are willing to work. That's what we came here for, and we'll work in the striped suit for our food, if we can't get it any other way. Anyway we won't break up. That's the thing that I'd hate worse than anything else. So long as we hang together and ask work peaceably I don't see what the city can do but give it to us. And if they get 200 of us to take care of I guess they'll begin to think about giving us something to do."

Galvin says that up to the past year he had never lacked work in California, but that he and all the rest of the men who started with him were starving for lack of a days' work. Accordingly they banded together and tramped across the continent in the firm belief that their coming would have some effect on congress in bringing about relief legislation. The bills that they hope to get through congress contain provisions for irrigation, legislation for the arid lands of the west and for government employment of men on public works, with the restriction of foreign immigration for ten years and the abolition of real estate property rights except for naturalized resident citizens.

Democratic Nominations.

Harrisburg, June 27.—The Democratic state convention today performed its work with dispatch. The 454 delegates were called to order at 12.10 p. m., and forty minutes later a recess was taken until 2.25 o'clock. At 3.53 o'clock the convention adjourned sine die. The absence of any opposition to the candidates previously announced in these dispatches, was the primary cause of the expeditious transaction of business. The speeches, too, were all short.

The nominees of the convention are: Governor, William M. Singerly, of Philadelphia; lieutenant governor, John S. Rilling, of Erie; auditor general, David F. Magee, of Lancaster; secretary of internal affairs, Adjutant General Walter W. Greenland, of Clarion; congressman at large, ex-Senator Hannibal K. Sloan, of Indiana, and ex-Judge Joseph B. Bucher, of Union. All of the nominations were made by acclamation.

Resolutions Adopted.

Philadelphia, June 27.—At a meeting today the coal operators of Central Pennsylvania passed this resolution: "That the operators of the Central Pennsylvania district will not pay over 40 cents per ton of 2,240 pounds, or 35 cents per ton of 2,000 pounds for digging coal, in accordance with their resolutions of June 8, but will agree to advance this rate to 50 cents per gross ton, or 45 cents per net ton May 1, 1895, provided our miners give us the evidence on or before March 1, 1895, that the other competing regions will pay the same rate.

"Our miners are to accept or decline this proposition on or before July 2, 1894.

"This resolution shall be posted immediately at the mines of every operator in the Central Pennsylvania district."

He Shot a Peeping Rival.

Hollidaysburg June 27—At midnight a jury in the Blair county court found Frank Kyler guilty of manslaughter. While eaves dropping and peeping in a window at Kyler and Miss Kate Acker in the act of lovemaking, Wm Butler was shot and killed by the defendant one night last March. Both men had been courting the same girl.

The commonwealth theory was that jealousy inspired Kyler to rid himself of a rival while the defense maintained that Butler was mistaken for a burglar. The trial created intense excitement, as all the parties are well-known and popular.

A River of Oil.

McKeesport, June 27.—A pipe line belonging to the W. I. Mellon Oil company, of Pittsburg, broke yesterday and the eastern part of the city was flooded with oil. The fluid ran down the hill into Crooked run and the residents in that vicinity became panic stricken for fear the oil would take fire. About 800 barrels of oil went to waste and men, women and children caught it in buckets, tubs and all kinds of vessels. No. 1 fire department was called out in anticipation of a big conflagration. The oil was finally turned off at one of the nearby stations.

THE GREAT RAILROAD STRIKE.

President Debbs, of the American Railway Union, Plays a High Card.

Chicago, June 29.—The American Railway union has given out the following bulletins to the press:

In reply to a telegram from General Manager Seals, of the Mobile and Ohio, stating that the road had cut off all Pullmans, and asking for an order releasing the tie up. President Debs this noon wired the Mobile and Ohio, asking whether it was a member of the General Managers' association. If not, an order will be sent the men this afternoon to return to work.

President Debs states that twenty-five organizers have been sent east to organize eastern roads and that every represented in the General Managers' association, whether pulling Pullmans or Wagners, will be boycotted and tied up.

All Alton yard men who did not join the strike last night went out at 12 o'clock today. To night all important division points and terminals of the Alton will be tied up. Positive orders were issued at noon to-day to the committee in charge of the Rock Island men to tie up that road to-night at any cost. Telegrams have been sent out along the line instructing the union men to quit work and asking asssistance from all employes.

On account of General Manager St. John's position as president of the manager's association, a bitter fight will be made against the Rock Island and almost any sacrifice will be made in order to keep that blocked to the last.

Things were moving slowly at the Union depot this morning, but there was no blockade and trains on all the roads went in and out with some trifling delays. The Pan Handle road brought in forty men from Columbus and other points this morning and put them to work in the yards at Curtis street.

Superintendent Law, of the Pennsylvania lines, and this afternoon that the aid of the yard master and the division officers, with the recurits from abroad, they had succeeded in bringing in and getting out all their trains in good shape. Assurances have been received from engineers and firemen that they would stand by the company and take no part in the trouble.

It was reported at the union depot this morning that President Debs had issued orders that would effectually tie up the Alton, but at 11 o'clock the St. Louis flyer of that road went out on time, and the 2 o'clock through train was made up in the [illegible] and departed on time. The Milwaukee road sent out its fast northwestern train at 11.30. Beyond a trifling delay to their trains the Rock Island and Burlington roads have not been effected.

A large number of engineers and firemen of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois road quit work this morning, and as a result the suburban service of that line is practically abandoned.

The belt line is hopelessly tied up, and every line making a connection over it with the Western Indiana tracks is seriously affected.

President Debs and his associates of the American Railway union played a high card to-day and made a radical move when they formally boycotted every road represented in the General Managers' association. Commissions were given to committee representing the employees of each road with order to call out the men the instant sufficient support was obtained to warrant a strike.

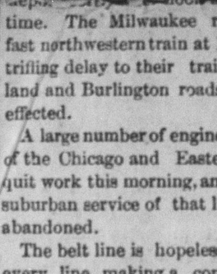
SAVED TWO WOMEN,

THOUGH MANY MILES APART.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Many curious and interesting experiences are found in the correspondence of a woman like Mrs. Pinkham, who for many years ministered to the sufferings of her sex all over the land. Here are two notable cases, one from the Pacific and the other from the Atlantic coast.



The Brooklyn woman is Mrs. Lillie Meyer. Five years ago she began to feel sharp pains in her abdomen, with the bearing-down feeling and pains in her back. She tried doctors and got no relief. A friend told her of Mrs. Pinkham's Compound, and after using it the pain left her, and menstruation now comes without suffering.

The Riverside, Cal., woman is Mrs. J. E. Dewey, who says, "I have used three bottles of your Vegetable Compound for painful menstruations.

"Every month my suffering was terrible, and I was obliged to go to bed.

"After using the first bottle, my general health was much improved, and now, after using three bottles, all pain has left me, and I am a well woman. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is as unfailing as the sun." Get it from your druggist.

THE COMPROMISE DEAD.

Miners Did Not Return to Work at Punxsutawney.

Punxsutawney, Pa., June 27.—Another hitch has occurred between the miners and the mine operators of this district, and their adjustment of affairs reported yesterday, died this morning. Arrangements were made today for the striking miners of the Bell, Lewis & Yates Company to resume work to morrow at Reynoldsville and DuBois. All their mules were re shod, the mines were examined by experts and the strikers were reveling in the prospects of a resumption, when it was discovered that the Rochester and Pittsburg Company, controlled by the Bell Lewis & Yates people refused to recognize the miners' organization, and then all peaceful propositions were instantly abandoned. The Reynoldsville and DuBois men sent word here to-night that they will not resume in the morning, unless their fellows in and about this place resume too.

As a result all peaceful negotiations are off, and the situation to night is substantially the same as when the troops came here, nearly a week ago. Brig. Gen. J. A. Wiley said to night that he regarded the situation as extremely critical He believes the mines of the several companies will resume with foreign labor, but he is fearful that the determination of the operators to shut out the Italian miners will precipitate trouble. It was reported here to day that a large consignment of colored miners was being shipped to this place. Their arrival just now might prove disastrous.

The repeated failure to compromise has discouraged the miners, who are in a decidedly unpleasant temper. A few miners were at work at Walston, Adrian and Anita, under protection of the troops. The operators say they can get plenty of men to fill their mines, and they will protect all who are willing to take the chances. The mines of the Berwin-White Company, at Horatio, are running full.

In the Senate.

Washington, June 27.—Senator Hill, of New York, continued to day the same vote which he has been performing in the senate for several days past—assailing the income tax provision of the tariff bill whenever there appeared to him to be a weak or vulnerable point, offering amendment which were nudelessly slaughtered bg the democratic majority, and endeavoring to provoke Mr. Vest. of Missouri, into discussion, which Mr. Vest obstinately avoided. It was only when Senator Gray, of Delaware, turned against the finance committee and ranged himself by the side of Mr. Hill in assaulting one of the sections of the bill, that requiring business corporations to keep books open to inspection of the internal revenue officers, that Mr. Vest was provoked into speech, and it proved to be one of his bitterest outpourings. He described Mr. Gray's speech as an extradorinary eruption of fervid eloquence, only to be account ed for by the near approach of the national anniversary, when the American eagle screamed its loudest. And he referred, sarcastically, to the alliance between Mr. Gray, Mr. Hill, Mr. Aldrich and Mr. Chandler.

The progress made was from section 59 to section 66, covering ten pages of the bill. The senate adjourned at 6.30 p. m.

IN THE HOUSE.

In the morning hour to-day the house passed the senate resolution, calling on the secretary of war for information as to the cost of making a deep water harbor at Everette, Washington, and the joint resolution reported from the committee on appropriations for the current fiscal year.

A few other measures of minor importance were passed, and the bill providing for the admission of New Mexico to statehood was taken up. Amendments offered to the section of the bill providing for common schools, providing for teaching the English language in all public schools gave rise to much debate and were finally rejected. Final action on the bill was postponed until after the second morning hour to-morrow.

There are crises in the lives of almost all, when years, perhaps the entirety of their future, is decided by what may seem by itself as the merest trifle. A chance word or action, as we look back through the days of our existence, has placed us on a path we might easily have missed. We can hardly ever discern these great points in life until we have passed them. Too often we have cause to regret the lack of wisdom which governed our doings at these epoch-making periods. The striking influence of a higher power is also to be witnessed in the tortuous path of human career. To the virtuous individual who scans his past years there will be seen the working of some agency which guarded his interests during the hours when there seemed nothing but desolation and misery ahead. There is no more unfathomable mystery than to tell what each day will produce in mortal life.

Must Live Along the Line.

United States railway postal clerks hereafter must reside along the line on which they work. Postmaster General Bissell has issued an order that all clerks employed in the United States railway post office service and running on the main line of the P. R. R. will be compelled to reside along the main line if they desire to hold their positions. The reason given for this order is that clerks who live several miles distant from the road in which they run cannot report for duty quick enough when ordered out.

THE GREAT RAILROAD STRIKE.

Both Sides Claim to Have the Advantage of the Situation.

Chicago, July 2.—With the stroke of midnight, the passing of the day of rest into the morn of another week of industrial activity, ushers in the fifth day of the greatest cessation of labor that so far not only the new but the old world has ever before seen or experienced. Both of the elements concerned are mentally paralyzed, the American Railway union, an organization as yet in its swaddling clothers, at the measure of success that has attended its first supreme efforts: and the powers that be of the railroad world, on the other hand, at the extent of the sympathetic support that has rallied to the aid of an infant among the trades organiztion of the United States, and of which, up to a week ago, they stood in little fear, regarding its power more as a question of the future than of the immediate present. To-night, or rather this morning, both sides claim the advantage of the situation. President Debs and his associates are exultant over the fact that in the territory within which the American Railway union has been organized and which comprises the bulk of the county west of the Mississippi river, the organization has been able, not only to enforce its mandates but also to secure the sympathetic cooperation of thousands of railroad employes not identified with the organizations and whose co-operation had never been expected.

To night the leaders of the union are confidently predicting that, within a week, unless a settlement of the trouble at issue has been effected in the meantime, every railroad in the United States, east as well as west will be placed under an embargo as are the roads leading out of Chicago this morning. It is upon these conditions that the officers of the union at daylight this morning claim that they have achieved a substantial victory.

The representatives of the railways, on the other hand, are equally emphatic in their declarations that they are satisfied with the situation. They take the ground that the present struggle is one that inevitably would have come sooner or later and it might as well be met face to face at once as six months or a year or two hence.

In the opinion of the general managers the new union is in the nature of a "canaille" of spontaneous growth, destined to be short lived and lacking all cohesive qualities. Manifesting considerable mushroom power for the time being, it is destined to wither and dry up like a fragile floor in the noonday sun, either under the rays of popular displeasure or from the glare of the federal orb.

Locally, there was but little change in the situation on Sunday. Traffic, passenger as well as freight, was practically congested. Suburban service on all the roads was a standstill. The few trains for the east and the west that left the various depots carried but few passengers, the bulk of the travelling public preferring the comforts of their homes or hotels to the possibilities of a night or more on side tracks between Indiana sand pile or on Illinois prairie.

The announcement that several leaders of the strike had been arrested and locked up until morning in the county jail created scarcely a ripple of excitement at the strikers' headquarters. Then information was received that the deputy marshals would be despatched this morning, equipped with riot guns, and that a conflict between the strikers and the marshals was among the possibilities. All kinds of rumors were afloat the strikers' headquarters after midnight. One was to the effect that the United States troops at Fort Sheridan had been ordered under arms; another that P. E. Studebaker, the millionaire South Bend carriage maker, was suing for peace in Pullman's name; still another that Pullman himself had sent for Debs and Howard None of these reports, however, were corroborated upon United Press investigation Both sides predict important developments by noon to-day (Monday).

Vets At Gettysburg.

Gettysburg, July 1.—Sunday at Camp McCartney, was moderately quiet. A large number of excursionists were in town and made the hill lively, but the veterans themselves remained in their tents. In the morning Chaplain Sayres preached a sermon at the rostrum in the National Cemetery from the text "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us."

In the evening the veterans turned out on dress parade. Later there was a sacred song concert at the bandstand, conducted by the Chaplains.

With the Miners.

Philipsburg, Pa., June 29.—In no part of the mining district of the state is the situation more unsettled than it is in the Clearfield and Beech Creek regions. In the Clearfield region only six mines are at work to-day at the compromise price.

A convention was held at this place today, at which the secretary of the local board was instructed to furnish the press with the following call for a general convention.

"A convention of miners will be held in Philipsburg on July 3, to which the miners of Pennsylvania, Virginia and Maryland are invited to send delegates, the basis of representation being one vote for every 100 men represented. The object of the convention is to consider the situation and to agree on united action by the miners in the central Pennsylvania region and of all others sending coal to the eastern markets.

(Signed) "JOHN RINN, Secretary."

None of the miners in the Beech Creek region are at work, though at several the offer of forty-five cents has been made, and there is not likely to be any change in the situation until after next week's convention. The holding of this convention is the work of the miners, who are disatisfied with the action taken last week at Altoona. The operators offer to pay fifty cents a ton next May, which is looked upon with derision because of the proviso connected with the proposition.

Everything is settled in all the mines at DuBois and Punxsutawney, except at the Berwind-White mines.

Hiring Men in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, July 1.—The men to take the places of the strikers on the railroads in the west are being recruited in this city An employment office has been opened at 234 Church street, and here all applicants are examined. The man in charge of the office declined to give his name or the companies he was acting for, but from some remarks he let drop it is supposed the office had been opened by the General Managers' association of Chicago. The office has been open for a week and the manager said that he had been hiring men daily and sending them west. How many men he had engaged he declined to state, but said that he was only hiring experienced railroad men. He added further that he was offering no extra inducements to the men to go west and that the wage scale in operation in Chicago is being paid them. He said that there was no lack of applications and that he could get as many men as he wanted.

No matter how hard the times the one thing you cannot afford to go without is all the news. If you want all the news you get it in the Pittsburgh DISPATCH. The DISPATCH publishes all—not a part only.

Hood's Never Fails

A Business Man's Experience—Cured of Rheumatism.

Mr. T. W. Haus,

A well known business man in Pittsburgh, Pa., writes the letter given below. Mr. Haus is general agent for the Maine granite quarries and contractor for cemetery and building work, having an office at No. 708 Penn Avenue.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen—We have a very high opinion of both Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills at our house and with good reason. I have taken almost every remedy known for rheumatism, and feel justified in saying that Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only one that does me any good. I must admit I have not taken it steadily, but only when the pains of rheumatism came on. Hood's Sarsaparilla has

and like many others, as soon as I am well I never think of medicine again until the next attack. We are never without Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills in our house, and have recommended both to dozens of friends. When any of my family are taken sick, no matter with what disease, the first thing we do is to give and follow it up with Hood's Sarsaparilla. I might write several pages in praise of this excellent medicine, but think I have said enough to convince." T. W. HAUS, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Hood's Pills are prompt and efficient, yet easy in action. Sold by all druggists. 25c.

HOOD'S Sarsaparilla CURES

FOSTER'S PREDICTIONS.

Electricity is Given the Sole Credit for the Everlasting Movement of the Earth.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 1.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from June 30 to July 4 and the next will reach the Pacific coast about July 5, cross the western mountains by close of the 6th, the great central valleys from 7th to 9th and the eastern states about the 10th.

This will be a storm of considerable importance and will develop its greatest force in the Mississippi valley, about the 8th and will be somewhat favorable to the development of tornadoes.

The warm wave will cross the western mountains about July 5, the great central valleys about the 7th, and the eastern states about the 9th. The cool wave will cross the western mountains about the 8th, the great central valleys about the 10th and the eastern states about the 12th.

The rainfall of July will be excessive in places, but will average below the normal, taking the whole country over. Spots of drouth in various places will do considerable damage to growing crops during the first ten days of the month, while other places will be damaged by floods. After the 19th rains will become more general and will run less to extremes.

The hottest waves of the month will cross the continent from west to east about June 29th to July 3 and July 28 to Aug. 1. The coolest weather will be from 10th to 20th, and the greatest fall of temperature following the storm waves crossing the continent June 30 to July 4 and July 26 to Aug. 2.

For the United States and Canada, as a whole, July will be a fair average crop month. The rains will range well to the north during the first half of the month and well to the south during the last half.

The most destructive storms will occur from 1st to 10th and will include some severe hailstorms and tornadoes. This will also be a danger period on the lakes and Atlantic.

The Troops Relieved.

Harrisburg, June 30.—Gov. Pattison today issued the following order relieving the troops from duty in Jefferson county:

"The troops that were ordered into service by special orders, No. 15, current series, are hereby relieved, as the emergency has passed. In relieving the troops the commander in chief desires to express to John A. Wiley, brigadier general, and to the officers and enlisted men his appreciation and congratulations. During the last three years the calls upon your services have been unusual. You have not hesitated in response to leave your homes and occupations to sustain your state in the maintenance of the laws and the rights of the citizens. By your patriotism efficiency and organization you have shown yourselves worthy of the gratitude and confidence of your fellow citizens."

Col. Clark,

U. S. Army writes: For the last two years, my health has been excellent; this, I think, is due to my using Sulphur Bitters, as formerly my health was miserable, owing to the frequent changes of climate, etc., so incident to a soldier's life.

"All Trains Abandoned."

Chicago, July 1.—A notice reading "All trains abandoned until further notice," confronted the public at Van Buren street depot, and told in a few words the completely paralyzed condition of Rock Island traffic at this end of the line. Not a hand was lifted by the railway company and not an order given during the day to clear a track so that penned up passengers on the stalled trains could be released from their decidedly miserable predicament. To-morrow active operations in that direction will be started under the protection of 100 deputy sheriffs and the same number of United States marshals. The United States mails were taken from the stalled trains during the day and returned to the city in carriages under escort of deputy marshals.

Editor Singerly Calls at the White House.

Washington, July 1.—Mr. William M. Singerly, the democratic candidate for governor, was in Washington yesterday and had a long conference with the president at the White House. They talked for over an hour, and canvassed the situation in Pennsylvania very thoroughly. The president manifested the keenest interest in the situation in Pennsylvania, and assured Mr. Singerly that he would have every assistance the national administration could give him. The president was greatly gratified at the nomination of Mr. Singerly, and regards it as one of the best that could have been made.

A slim chance, you fancy. Well, read and judge for yourself. You have Catarrh. $500 is offered for an incurable case of Catarrh in the head, by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Headache, obstruction of the nose, discharges falling into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody, putrid and offensive; eyes weak, ringing in the ears, deafness; offensive breath; smell and taste impaired, and general debility. Only a few of these symptoms likely to be present at once. Dr. Sage's Remedy cures the worst cases Only 50 cents. Sold by druggists everywhere. $500 or a cure. Either would be acceptable.

The Beech Creek Latitude.

Harrisburg, June 30.—Another brilliant railroad scheme is formulating in the vicinity of Pittsburg. Recently a charter was granted at the state department for a new line of steam railroad to be known as the Allegheny and Monongahela railroad. It escaped general attention, but some sharp eye has since discovered that this new line is to be the final link connecting Pittsburg with the Pittsburg, Shenango and Lake Erie road for the lakes, and with Beech Creek for the east. When the line is completed Pittsburg will have a new and direct short line to the Atlantic seaboard and the local capital that is invested in bituminous coal properties in the western part of the state will, it is thought, experience a boom.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY, Boston, Mass.

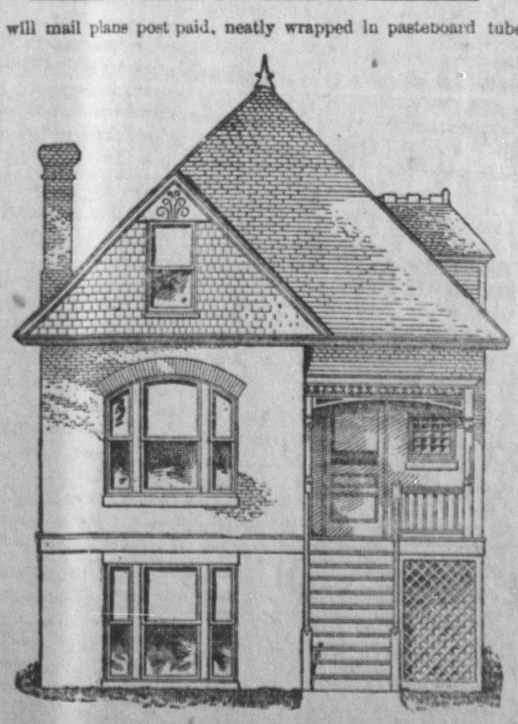
we will mail plans post paid, neatly wrapped in pasteboard tube.



THE PANSY COTTAGE NO. 12.

This 5-room cottage, besides attic room and bath room, may be built in brick for $1700, or in frame for $1400, the price varying slightly accoording to locality.

There are very few of our readers who are not interested at all times in building. Even though not contemplating building at all seasons of the year the subject affords so much thought and study, and has so many and varied attractions that it is always of the greatest interest to the majority of the reading public.

We have secured authority to offer the plan of the "Pansy" to subscribers on the above terms, which are such as to justify each and all of our readers to send in orders promptly.

These plans are drawn to a scale and are mechanically correct. They are guaranteed ready to build from and consist of interior sectional view and exterior prospective view, picture of each floor plan, roof and porch, front and side elevations, with full detail sheet, all drawn to a scale for the contractor, with complete and accurate specifications. It will also have an estimate with detailed list and prices of all material used, with full particulars and advice regarding division of cost for various lines of material, instructions to builder, etc. Everything that can be furnished by a competent architect is provided for. The original architect's drawing cost $25.00 and any one of our readers can obtain same by sending to the REPUBLICAN office and Fifty cents and the above certificate clipped from this paper.

It is our intention to issue these plans in serial form. Builders and Architects and all persons interested in building can secure any of the plans advertised on the above condition —50 cents and a Certificate—thereby saving upwards of $25.00 which an architect would require for furnishing plans with all the details given in ours. Our readers are thus afforded an opportunity seldom offered, and all interested in building even to the slightest extent, should not hesitate to take advantage of this offer.

These plans are under the personal supervision of James Hennerty.

Send in orders for "The Pansy Cottage" promptly before supply becomes exhausted. Address REPUBLICAN, Bellefonte, Pa.

—Decker's saw mill in George's Valley was burned to the ground on last Thursday evening, about 8 o'clock. We were unable to learn the cause of the fire or the amount of loss.

—A large and handsome new porch is being put up in front of the residence of Col. George A. Bayard, on Spring street. It will make quite a nice place to sit these hot summer evenings.

—On Wednesday Sheriff Condo was informed by telegraph that Rudy Watkins was in jail at Somerset awaiting the action of the Centre county officials. The sheriff at once went after his man, bringing him to Bellefonte on Thursday and lodging him in jail. It will be remembered by our readers that Rudy is the man from Watkins Glen, convicted one noon for adultery and larceny, but who failed to convene with the court at 1.30 o'clock in the afternoon. But he will convene at the next session.

—Special trains were run on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad on Thursday to convey those desiring to attend the funeral of Mr. Bernard Lauth, to and from Howard. The funeral was one of the largest ever held in that place. The pall bearers were Balser Weber, Howard; John G. Love and John P. Harris, Bellefonte; William A Simpson and Joseph Candor, Lock Haven; Alex Hamilton, Johnstown: S. S. Blair, Tyrone; and John Fritz, Bethlehem. The carriers were Messrs. John Loder, John Heverly, James Wyble, J. L. Dehass, A. Weber, H. C. Holter, William H. Neff and Samuel Shay.

In the above list there are three new teachers, Mr. Rutt, Misses Curry and Longacre, who take the places of Misses Wright, Powers and Stott. Miss Ella Levy is promoted from the Senior grammar in the High School and her place is taken by Mr. Rutt, who is a graduate of Gettysburg college.

A RETIRED BUSINESS WOMAN.

A Page From Her History.

The important experiences of others are interesting. The following is no exception: "I had been troubled with heart disease 25 years, much of that time very seriously. For five years I was treated by one physician continuously. I was in business, but obliged to retire on account of my health. A physician told my friends that I could not live a month. My feet and limbs were badly swollen, and I was indeed in a serious condition when a gentleman directed my attention to Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and said that his sister, who had been afflicted with heart disease, had been cured by the remedy, and was again a strong, healthy woman. I purchased a bottle of the Heart Cure, and in less than an hour after taking the first dose I could feel a decided improvement in the circulation of my blood. When I had taken three doses I could move my ankles, something I had not done for months, and my limbs had been swollen so long that they seemed almost putrified. Before I had taken one bottle of the New Heart Cure the swelling had all gone down, and I was so much better that I did my own work. On my recommendation six others are taking this valuable remedy."—Mrs. Morgan, 569 W. Harrison St., Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, a discovery of an eminent specialist in heart disease, is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from all opiates or dangerous drugs.

THE FIFTH REGIMENT.

No Truth in Sensational Rumors—Some Interesting News Notes.

Camp Adrian, June 25.—The mines at Anita were started to-day with forty-five new men, mostly American, with some Poles. A number of coal and iron police are in the immediate vicinity protecting them from the strikers. Company B, of the Fifth regiment, was sent there early this morning in order to be convenient for duty if any outbreak should occur. Nine more policemen passed Adrian, en route to Anita, this afternoon. Nothing of interest is at present transpiring and all the wild news flying around concerning the killing of guardsmen and others in riots occurring in the campaign are unqualifiedly false and no doubt started by evil disposed persons who are anxious to create sensations and frighten families of the members of the guardsmen. There are no fears among the soldiers here of any serious trouble while they remain, as the foreigners who are here have a very wholesome regard for the uniform and arms of the soldiers. The Sheridan Troop passed here today on a scout to the Anita and other adjacent mining districts. The troopers are ready for business will perform their duty well, and if it becomes necessary they and the Fifth are ready to maintain the laws of the commonwealth. Though it may be unpleasant to do what may be required, yet we believe that these foreigners ought to be taught the law by military power if the civil arm is not able to cope with them.

Rigid discipline is enforced in the Fifth regiment camp. None of the soldiers are allowed to go beyond the guard line without a pass from the commanding officer and no citizen is allowed to pass through the lines unless permission is granted by the proper military authorities.

The health of the command is still in splendid condition. Private John Lemon, of company F, who contracted typhoid fever before coming to camp, was this morning sent home by order of the surgeon.

Telephone communication with the camp was established yesterday.

The pumps at the mines were abandoned upon the arrival of the deputies, but are now again in full operation.

Quarter Master Sergeant J. E. Thompson, who is employed in the state arsenal, arrived in camp yesterday.

Private W. J. Ballentine, of company F, accidently shot himself through the index finger of the right hand, while playing with a revolver,

Four hundred and ninety men present for duty.

Among the field and staff officers of the Regiment are the following from Bellefonte and Centre county:

Amos Mullen, lieutenant colonel, also [illegible] and service in the late war; was connected with the regiment since 1880; is employed in the post office at Bellefonte.

Lieutenant S. H. Williams, quartermaster, have been connected with the guard for upwards of ten years; at present in business in Bellefonte.

Lieutenant H. C. Quigley, adjutant, was a cadet at West Point and connected with the guard since 1885; at present a practicing attorney in the office of General D. H. Hastings, Bellefonte, Pa.

Lieutenant Philip D. Foster, adjutant 1st battalion, with the regiment since 1886; at present a clerk.

William F. Reber, captain company B, connected with guard since 1880; is at present executive clerk at Harrisburg.

Additional Train to Chicago via Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Pittsburg and Chicago Special of the Pennsylvania lines, leaving Pittsburg daily at 7.00 p. m. Eastern time, (6.00 p. m. Central time), reaching Chicago next morning at 8 o'clock, stopping at principal stations on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railway, and composed of vestibuled parlor smoking car, first and second class coaches, and Pullman sleeping cars, has been placed in service for the especial accommodation of the people of Western and Central Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania railroad company has established connection with the Pittsburg and Chicago Special by train leaving Bellefonte at 10.34 a. m., week days arriving at Pittsburg at 6.50 p. m., Eastern time. Tickets will be sold and baggage checked accordingly.

Changes in the Faculty.

The following changes are announced in the faculty of State College for next year: Professor of English, Fred Lewis Pattee, of Dartmouth college; mathematical instructor in the preparatory department, George Tucker Sellow, of Cornell university; instructor in chemistry, William H. Rebun. Frank J. Pond, former instructor in chemistry, will spend next year studying in Germany.

Mite Society Festival.

The Ladies' Mite society, of the Evangelical church, of Howard, will hold an ice cream festival for the benefit of the church, in the school house yard on Saturday afternoon and evening, July 28th. There will be a variety of refreshments, and the Howard cornet band will furnish music for the entertainment of all. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Company Election.

Some time during July it will be necessary for company B. N. G. P., of Bellefonte, to elect a new captain for five years. There are a number of applicants for the honor. Captain Reber would accept a re-election. Lieutenant Amos Mullen, who some years ago filled the position, would accept it again. Lieutenants Reeder and Taylor are also considered as applicants. Any of the above gentlemen would make a good man for the place.

Eating and Working.

Big eaters are seldom great workers. People who eat more than is needed to repair the waste and nourish the system spend their vitality in the procession of digestion that otherwise might be devoted to muscular or mental work. Nature is wise. She gives the greatest help to the hardest worked organ. The glutton is put to sleep after each repast by having the blood belonging to the brain sent down to help the crowded stomach. Some of the grandest work in literature and art and some of the greatest victories in history have been won by men under the pressure of hungry. Thinkers, singers and fighters think better, sing sweeter and hit harder when they are a trifle hungry. Over eating is a tremendous mistake. The system only digests the best material and the amount needed—that is about seven pounds of food, all told, in twenty four hours; the rest is rejected. Then, too, people who gorge themselves show it, matter predominates over mind, great corporations, double chins, overhanging cheeks and precipitous hips and grown; they have tallow like flesh, and look and act like animals. Give the stomach and heart as little to do as possible, by rational eating and regular exercise, and the brain will accomplish the tasks that business, professional and domestic life impose.

A Word to Campers.

"A holiday under canvas can be made a remarkably pleasant experience if congenial spirits compose the party, but there is a common mistake made by too many of those who take to the woods at a time when fish are the only lawful quarry. I refer to the practice of taking guns and rifles to camp when the law forbids the killing of any game. There is no sense in carrying a weapon which is not to be used, and I know cases where the fact of one being within reach has made a lawbreaker of a man who meant no harm, but was tempted by an unexpected chance at unlawful game. Furthermore, country people visiting a camp and seeing gun or rifle included in the outfit, are apt to conclude that it is there for use and that the campers will have a quiet try at whatever game appears. This idea encourages the countryman to do a bit of illegitimate killing himself when he gets a chance. Gun and rifle are excellent in their proper place, but that place is not a July camp. The usual excuse offered for their presence is the possibility of a shot at a bear or wildcat. That is all very fine, but the 'bears' and 'cats' really killed have always appeared to me to strangely resemble dogs and foxes. [illegible] leave weapons at home than to run the risk of being tempted to join a native in that miserable business, 'floating,' or 'jacking.'—Outing for July.

A Very Pretty Wedding.

Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, ot the home of Ex-Sheriff Wm A. Ishler, uncle of the bride, Miss Sallie E. Ishler and Mr. John W. Corts, both of Altoona, Penna., were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Rev. Edward E. Hoshour, pastor of the Lutheran church, officiated. The bridesmaid was Miss Emma Cherry, of Altoona, and the best man was Mr. George Curfman, of the same city. As they stood at the Altar surrounded by friends they were the very picture of loveliness and happiness. An elegant supper was served. They left on the evening train for an extended tour. May happiness attend them through life.

Money for Farmers' Institutes.

The total appropriation by the state for the holding of farmers' institutes is $9,500 annually. This was apportioned last year among the different counties of the state in the proportion of a minimum of $75 to each county and an additional allowance of two and one-half cents for each farm in the county under the census of 1890. Last season the counties of Elk, Forest, McKean, Pike and Potter did not ask for their quota, but several of these counties now demand their share. This will reduce the minimum apportionment of last year to $65 instead of $75. The allowance of two and one half cents per farm will be retained this year.

—We notice that our friend, Mr. Alva S. Grow, of Lock Haven, is a candidate for re-election to the office of register and recorder of Clinton county. Alva has made a good official and his chances are good for a second term.

A Statement from the Board.

To the Editor of the DAILY NEWS.

"We, the election board under whose supervision the late Republican primaries were held in the West Ward, wish to publish a few explanatory remarks in order to make clear our position in reference to the question lately discussed in your issues of the 20th, 22rd and 25 insts., respectively. Your correspondent to whom the first and third of these articles are due, we are reliably informed, is Mr. Wm. Shortlidge, the leader of the Furst faction in the late judicial fight. Why he chooses to discuss this question anonymously and not over his own signature can only be guessed at, but we presume he has some excellent reason for withholding his name.

The illustration given from the 25th to the 51st lines in your correspondent's last article is clearly an incorrect way of looking at the question as any one may see by the facts hereinafter shown.

To take up the matter of the two tickets that were thrown out, alleged in the first article to be two votes instructing for Judge Furst, which statement is manifestly incorrect as can be shown by the tickets themselves; First, the man voting the Spring Township ticket, which was thrown out, voted for Snyder Tate, J. H. Olliger and E. E. Straub for delegates to the Republican Centre County Convention, and secondarily voted to instruct these men to vote for John G. Love for President Judge at the said Convention. As none of these men were qualified electors of the West Ward of Bellefonte Borough, they could not be legally voted for for the office of delegates from the West Ward to the said Convention. And futher, any instructions given to these Spring Township delegates by voters of the West Ward would be null and void for the same reason. Drawing our conclusions from these facts we also threw out a North Ward ticket voting for Harry Keller, W. E. Gray, John C. Miller, John McGinley Wm. Clark and George A. Bayard for delegates from the North Ward to the said Republican Convention, and secondarily voting to instruct these men to vote for A. O. Furst for President Judge at the said convention.

If Mr. Shortlidge, or whomever wishes to substantiate the attack against the integrity of the election board, will quote his legal authorities upholding the position he is taking, over his own signature, it would be much better for all concerned than to indulge in meaningless illustrations and make flings at the election board from under cover.

Very truly yours,
A. V. SMITH, JAMES RINE, J. T. MITCHELL } —Judge, —Inspector, —Inspector.

A. J. Dress at Home.

Mr. A. J. Dress, who went to Reading recently to defend himself in the charges made against him by John B. Kolbach, one of the Spang heirs, returned home last night, the matter having been settled Mr. Dress is very much incensed and justly, too, at the many false statements published in the newspapers relative to the case, particularly the report that he had pulled out for other climes and thus forfeited his bail. He never left Reading, but stayed there and fought the case through, coming out victorious, a fact his many friends here are delighted to know. With the exception of Kolbach, the rest of the Spang heirs have the fullest confidence in Mr. Dress as is shown by the fact that they have still retained him as their agent.—Philipsburg Journal.

Sad Drowning Accident.

Philadelphia, June 27.—While playing on the string piece of a wharf on the Delaware river front this afternoon, Harry Newman, aged 7 years, and Hiram Crow, the same age, fell into the river and were drowned. Some men on the wharf saw the children go down and they dived for them and brought them to the surface within a few minutes, but both boys were dead

A Birthday Surprise.

On Thursday evening friends and neighbors to the number of seventy-five or more gathered at the pleasant home of Mrs. Irvin Taylor, on Water street, to celebrate the anniversary of Mrs. Taylor's birth. The gathering was a complete surprise to the hostess, she not even dreaming of anything of the kind. But this fact did not lessen the pleasure of the evening, as all were happy, merry and enjoyed the occasion immensely. Choice refreshments were served during the evening, and this was also an enjoyable feature. Mrs. Taylor was the recipient of many handsome, useful and valuable presents. It was late in the night when her friends departed wishing her many more such pleasant occasions.

FRANCE'S NEW PRESIDENT.

M. Casimir-Perier Chosen Yesterday by the Chamber of Deputies.

Paris, June 27.—M. Casimir Perier, president of the French republic, left Versailles for Paris at 5.30 o'clock this afternoon. Premier Deputy accompanied him.

As the president was about to drive away some one threw a bouquet tied with the American colors into his carriage. The president took his departure from Versailles amid the rattle of drums and the bows and cheers of the crowds, who shouted, "Vive La President," "Vive Casimer Perier," until the party were out of sight.

Troops had been massed at the St. Lazare station to receive the new president and escort him from the train to the foreign office. When it was learned that he would return in a carriage, they were marched to Sevres to meet him.

The people along the route saluted him with cheers and the waiving of hats and Handkerchiefs.

As the president approached the foreign office the officers removed for the time the crepe from their swords. The tri-color was hoisted over the buildings and a band played the "Marseillaise." The reception at the foreign office was very brief. After it the president returned to his apartments in the chamber of deputies. He will preside at the cabinet meeting to be held at 8.30 tomorrow morning, and will receive from Premier Deputy before noon the formal notice of the cabinet's resignation.

After Chaulemel Lacour had read the form investing Casimir-Perier with the powers of the presidency, he made an emotional little speech and then turning to the new president, embraced him heartily. Casimir-Perier wept. He had not mastered his emotion when a delegation of journalists was admitted to congratulate him, but he managed to thank them warmly, adding: "Gentlemen—I belong to you. Discuss me, but never forget France and the republic while doing so."

The socialist demonstration after the decisive vote revealed such bitterness and desperation as even the extreme markist has displayed before.

ART OF KEEPING COOL.

ew and Surprising Theories on a Timely Subject.

Dress up.

Full dress is cooler than neglige.

Women who knock about the house in ippers, curl-papers and wrappers suffer ore from the heat than their best dressed eighbors, and it serves them right.

All doctors say: "Wear flannel," but obody heeds them any more. Wool, as ll the world knows, has a spiral thread; n silk, cotton and linen goods the thread s flat and the garment "sticks" in melting hot weather, whereas a space always exists between the body and a woolen body garment and there's where the coolness comes in. Woolen underwear is now made of zephyr weights, but there is nothing light about the prices asked. However those who can afford it should take the medicine men's advice and wear flannel next to the skin.

The next best thing in the way of dress is quantity. Perspiration keeps the surface of the body wet, and comfort requires fresh garments before and between meals. Women who have tried it prescribe five cool baths and as many suits of clean clothes as a possible cure for hot-weather distress. Quantity is better than quality if a choice must be made in clothing. Just now furnishing goods are temptingly cheap. Summer hoisery may be had as low as a dime; woven vests at 50 cents a pound; shirt waists at 60 cents are neatly made and fit beautifully, and there are house dresses, two pieces in the prettiest of prints for $1.25. The duck suits consisting of a skirt and a jacket that are selling, or were sold last week for $4.25, are hard to match. This moment there are exquisite cotton crepes and cheviots for 17 cents and summer silks for 39 cents and any woman with a rudimentary knowledge of sewing can have plenty of home dresses at the cost of material. White skirts with tucks and ruffles may be had for 90 cents, dressing jackets are even cheaper, and there are night dresses of printed muslin and lawn that must be seen to be appreciated. If all the cool garments are done up without starch there will be a saving of labor and fuel and increase of home and personal comfort. The hired girl who has been faithful all year deserves indulgence during the dog days.

A silk skirt and a muslin waist, with a soft silk sash, is an ideal house dress. It might take nine yards of silk, $4 worth to make the skirt. Three waists need not cost over $3. This is an outfit to work or idle in—it might look pretty, it would be cool, and the woman would feel as light-winged as a butter-fly.

Don't wear slippers. They are the bane of good feet. Nothing rests the sole like a change of shoes and stockings. Black is the hottest thing that can be worn, and blue next; one absorbs heat and the other absorbs light. In the tropics, where people know how to enjoy the summer black is unheard of, even among the dead, a straw hat with a black ribbon would be cooler if it had a white band. Any umbrella will throw a cooler shade than black silk. White or cream, with a green lining, is the best for the brain and the eyes.

White shoes are the best, and, incidentally the very latest fashion. They are made of crash, sail-cloth serge and leather for men, women and children, and they are selling like fans, the dealers say. The brown shoes come next in comfort, but first in service.

Dieting is all-important.

Fresh fruits, salads with oil and lemon juice, cold vegetables with Mayonnaise sauce, those are the things that cool the blood. Cold bullion and cold tea and coffee with lemon juice are refreshing and stimulating. Cold chocolate with whipped cream is food and drink, and there is health and strength in sterilized milk—the first on the list of wholesome foods to-day. —Philadelphia Record.

LEAVES.

That's what Sick Headache does, when Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are taken. These tiny, sugar-coated, anti-bilious granules cure it completely. They're the smallest, the easiest to take, and the most natural remedy. No disturbance, no unpleasantness, no reaction afterward. One little Pellet at a dose regulates the whole system. Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Dizziness, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels are prevented, relieved, and permanently cured.

They're the cheapest pills you can buy at any price, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get.

THE WRONG WAY, with Catarrh, is to stop it without curing it.

The right way is a proved one. It's with Doctor Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It cures, perfectly and permanently, by its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties, the worst cases of Chronic Catarrh.

Waiting for Tariff Bill.

Washington, July 1.—The house of representatives will be in a waiting humor until the senate tariff bill is laid before it. Little interest will attach to its proceedings until Chairman Wilson and his associates on the ways and means committee are put in possession of their challenging and are asked to decide the question what they are going to do about it. Then the fun will wax fast and furious. The session will be limited to five days inasmuch as the 4th is a legal holiday.

A number of committees have asked for days for the consideration of measures on their calendar, but the committee on rules will not decide whether any special orders shall be made for the week until after to-morrow. There is a disposition on the part of the committee to keep the decks clear for the tariff bill. One of the measures which may come up is the Cooper bill to tax greenbacks. This is a privileged measure. It is under the control of Mr. Hall of Missouri, who will probably ask for its consideration on Monday. A number of gentlemen have signified their desire to speak upon the bill and it will be antagonized generally by the republicans. Mr Hall does not believe that it can be disposed of in less than two days.

Another measure to which members attach no little importance, and which may come before the house upon the reassembling after the 4th, is the joint resolution providing for the election of Senators by the people.

Mother and Child are Doing Well.

Mrs Brown was sick. Her friends said she would never get well. "What's the trouble?" O, some kind of female weakness. The doctors have given up her case as hopeless. 'She may live for some time they say, 'but as for a cure, that is quite out of the question.

"I don't believe it," said a woman who heard the sad news. "I don't believe she's any worse off than I was, five years ago, from the same trouble, and I don't look very much like a dead woman, do I?" She certainly did not, with her red, plump cheeks, bright eyes, and 150 pounds of good healthy bone, blood and flesh. "I'm going to see her and tell her how she can get well." She did so. She advised Mrs. Brown to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Mrs. Brown took the advice, also the medicine which cures all kinds of delicate diseases so common among women, and got well. That was two years ago. Last month she presented Mr. Brown with a ten-pound son, "mother and child are doing well."

A noticeable characteristic of The Engineering Magazine (New York) is the absence of that strictly technical quality which would fit it for engineering readers alone. In preparing the July number the editor has been exceptionally fortunate in the selection of matter appealing strongly to the interest of the general reader. First is an article on "The Danger Lurking Behind Strikes," in which Mr. William Nelson Black discusses the question whether we are drifting toward stronger government in the efforts to suppress uprisings among the industrial classes. Of much general interest and real information is an illustrated article on "Saving a Wrecked Vessel" by Mr. Gustav Kobbe. "The Quarrying Methods of the Ancients," by W. F. Durfee a distinguished engineer, presents many interesting illustrations showing how some of the greatest works of ancient times which still exist undamaged by time, came into existenc. "Early Steamboats on the Great Lakes," by Mr. J. F. Holloway, is full of interesting reminiscences and important facts regarding the beginning of a great interest. There is a good paper on the great Siberian railway, one on our trade relations with Cuba, two important electrical papers, and the usual half-dozen editorial departments, each in the hands of a recognized authority in the engineering world.

Had a Yob With Yon E.

Draining Collieries.

A gigantic tunnel is being driven through the mountain at Jeddo, near Hazelton, to drain a large number of collieries of water at a cost of something over $2,000,000. The scheme will relieve about fifteen of the largest collieries in the anthracite region. The tunnel will five miles long and penetrate two mountains.

Best printing, finest paper, fullest reports, of all topics in the Pittsburgh DISPATCH.

The Strike at Denver.

Denver, Col., July 2.—The strike situation here is not materially changed. All roads are running passenger trains with sleepers attached, although some of the trains are considerably delayed. By order of the war department and Seventh regiment United States troops, left their barracks at Fort Logan early this morning proceeding to Trinidad, where they will protect the property of the Gulf and Santa Fe railroads against violence on the part of the strikers. Besides this regiment, the cavalry at Fort Wingate, New Mexico, and the Tenth infantry, stationed at Santa Fe, will probably be moved to the Santa Fe line. Not a passenger or mail taain has left Ogden since yesterday morning.

Too Late.

Perhaps Tennyson has written nothing which appeals to the hearts of all who read his poems more than the lyric of "Too late." The burden of the sad refrain comes home with telling force to the hearts of those who have lost friends by that dread disease—consumption. They realize, "too late" the result of neglect. They feel that the dear one might have been saved if they had heeded the warning of the hacking cough, the pallid cheek, and weakening system. They feel all this more keenly because they see others being rescued from the grasp of the destroyer, and they think what is saving others might have saved their loved one. When the first signal of danger is seen, take steps to avert the catastrophe. Be wise in time. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will drive away consumption. Do not wait until too late before putting its wonderful efficacy to the test. It succeeds where other remedies fail.

The Hottest Day of the Year.

Sunday was conceded by many, if not all, to be the hottest day of this year. Saturday was a warm day, but it could not be compared with Sunday. During the morning the thermometer registered 83°, and shortly after noon the mercury was dashing around the 100° mark All afternoon the mercury remained above 90°, but just before the rain it dropped down into the 80's, and there it stayed until after nightfall, when it again began to fall and continued its downward course until it reached 70°.

A Vision of WONDERLAND!

The Little Brownies, those mischevious but kindly children immortalized in nursery tales, have been recently reported as taking a tour of the wild and picturesque scenery of America. The idea was long delayed, and undoubtedly came to them through a chance examination of the most wonderful and beautiful publication of the age, the magnificent pictographic scenic serial, Entitled:

Glimpses of America,

Which the REPUBLICAN is now distributing among its patrons.

It is a sad commentary upon popular taste that Americans know less about the scenery of their own country than that of European lands, probably because travel in the far West has not been attended with such comforts as journeys through the old countries. But no reason is longer available to excuse ignorance of the THE INCOMPARABLE, THE IMPRESSIVE, THE TRULY MARVELOUS SCENERY of our wondrously diversified country, because "Glimpses of America" is a photographic album, comprising the grandest pictures of the most sublime objects that the human ever beheld.

They are not wood-cuts, or sketches, but large and perfect photographs of actual scenes, bewilderingly magnificent, imposing sights of the Rocky Mountains, the peaks, canons, waterfalls, valleys, lakes an cataracts of that great continental range, and of equally wonderous views on the great plains, Pueblo villages, burning deserts, immense forests; marvels of the Yosemite; picturesque, but almost inaccessible regions of the Northwest; of Alaska's glaciers and Indian towns; of the Yellowstone Park Geysers and curiosities; of Superior's Sculptured shores and Wisconsin's romantic dells; of Canada and the clevages, cascades, whirlpools and deep forests of the Northeast; of Eastern mountains, frothy streams, dashing rivers, and great precipices; of dreamy langurous scenes in the land of the flamingo, where the mocking-bird hides in the perfume-laden snow of the orange tree, and the sun kisses the banana into golden fruitage.

Every section of America is represented in this complete collection of photographs, and the pictures, instead of being imperfectly and clumsily described in brief foot-notes, as in other serials, sre incorporated in the text, there being much space devoted to reading matter in "GLIMPSES OF AMERICA," as to illustrations. It is therefore a pictorial history of the charming scenery of our country, the most gorgeous, complete and eloquent that was ever prepared.

And OH,

The Cameragraphs

No one ever before saw such marvelous heliotype jewels as these.

They are specimens of the perfected process of photographing in natural colors—grand, glorious and beautiful beyond imagination. A series of these marvelous pictographic productions appear in "GLIMPSES OF AMERICA," and they are to be seen in no other publication, the cost being too great as as yet to admit of common use.

You can get "GLIMPSES OF AMERICA" only through the DAILY NEWS, but upon the following remarkable generous conditions: Send or bring to this office one coupon clipped from the REPUBLICAN, together with ten cents in coin and we will deliver you Part I, or any subsequent number that is ready, over our counter, or have the same mailed to your address without further expense. The complete work comprises 32 parts, of 512 pages, 11 x 13 inches in size, and will be embellished with 550 superb photo-engravings. The photographs alone in this remarkable collection, if they were on sale, could not be purchased for less than $500.

Every American who loves his Country should possess a copy.

Perhaps Tennyson has written nothing which appeals to the hearts of all who read his poems more than the lyric of "Too late." The burden of the sad refrain comes home with telling force to the hearts of those who have lost friends by that dread disease—consumption. They realize, "too late" the result of neglect. They feel that the dear one might have been saved if they had heeded the warning of the hacking cough, the pallid cheek, and weakening system. They feel all this more keenly because they see others being rescued from the grasp of the destroyer, and they think what is saving others might have saved their loved one. When the first signal of danger is seen, take steps to avert the catastrophe. Be wise in time. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will drive away consumption. Do not wait until too late before putting its wonderful efficacy to the test. It succeeds where other remedies fail.

The Hottest Day of the Year.

Sunday was conceded by many, if not all, to be the hottest day of this year. Saturday was a warm day, but it could not be compared with Sunday. During the morning the thermometer registered 83°, and shortly after noon the mercury was dashing around the 100° mark All afternoon the mercury remained above 90°, but just before the rain it dropped down into the 80's, and there it stayed until after nightfall, when it again began to fall and continued its downward course until it reached 70°.

The Vast Variety

Whatever you want in the Grocery Line we can supply, and we sell goods at such prices that it will pay you to come to the Eureka, even from the uttermost parts of Centre county. The stock we carry makes it utterly impossible in newspaper space to give you a faint idea of what it embraces. We only want to mention, therefore, a few things. If you want a bargain we have good canned sugar corn, 3 cans for 25 cents. We have some of the finest in the county for 15 cents a can. We have the 'Atlas' coffee, a silver spoon with every pound for 28 cts. per pound.

Good Brooms for 20, 25, 30 and 35 cents. The Eureka Table Syrup is fine goods—we have it in two grades—they are both hard to beat. We have all kinds of Laundry Soap, but we would specially recommend the "Disinfectine," unequalled for laundry, both toilet and general household use, prevents contagion and heals all skin diseases, also prevents disease, cholera, diphtheria, scarlet fever, and small pox cannot come where this soap is kept in constant use and it is sold for the small sum of 5 cents per cake. Come and see us when you want Groceries and we will make you happy.

A Vision of WONDERLAND!

The Little Brownies,

those mischevious but kindly children immortalized in nursery tales, have been recently reported as taking a tour of the wild and picturesque scenery of America. The idea was long delayed, and undoubtedly came to them through a chance examination of the most wonderful and beautiful publication of the age, the magnificent pictographic scenic serial, Entitled:

Glimpses of America,

Which the REPUBLICAN is now distributing among its patrons.

It is a sad commentary upon popular taste that Americans know less about the scenery of their own country than that of European lands, probably because travel in the far West has not been attended with such comforts as journeys through the old countries. But no reason is longer available to excuse ignorance of the THE INCOMPARABLE, THE IMPRESSIVE, THE TRULY MARVELOUS SCENERY of our wondrously diversified country, because "Glimpses of America" is a photographic album, comprising the grandest pictures of the most sublime objects that the human ever beheld.

They are not wood-cuts, or sketches, but large and perfect photographs of actual scenes, bewilderingly magnificent, imposing sights of the Rocky Mountains, the peaks, canons, waterfalls, valleys, lakes an cataracts of that great continental range, and of equally wonderous views on the great plains, Pueblo villages, burning deserts, immense forests; marvels of the Yosemite; picturesque, but almost inaccessible regions of the Northwest; of Alaska's glaciers and Indian towns; of the Yellowstone Park Geysers and curiosities; of Superior's Sculptured shores and Wisconsin's romantic dells; of Canada and the clevages, cascades, whirlpools and deep forests of the Northeast; of Eastern mountains, frothy streams, dashing rivers, and great precipices; of dreamy languorous scenes in the land of the flamingo, where the mocking-bird hides in the perfume-laden snow of the orange tree, and the sun kisses the banana into golden fruitage.

Every section of America is represented in this complete collection of photographs, and the pictures, instead of being imperfectly and clumsily described in brief foot-notes, as in other serials, sre incorporated in the text, there being much space devoted to reading matter in "GLIMPSES OF AMERICA," as to illustrations. It is therefore a pictorial history of the charming scenery of our country, the most gorgeous, complete and eloquent that was ever prepared.

And OH, The Cameragraphs

No one ever before saw such marvelous heliotype jewels as these.

They are specimens of the perfected process of photographing in natural colors—grand, glorious and beautiful beyond imagination. A series of these marvelous pictographic productions appear in "GLIMPSES OF AMERICA," and they are to be seen in no other publication, the cost being too great as as yet to admit of common use.

You can get "GLIMPSES OF AMERICA" only through the DAILY NEWS, but upon the following remarkable generous conditions: Send or bring to this office one coupon clipped from the REPUBLICAN, together with ten cents in coin, and we will deliver you Part I, or any subsequent number that is ready, over our counter, or have the same mailed to your address without further expense. The complete work comprises 32 parts, of 512 pages, 11 x 13 inches in size, and will be embellished with 550 superb photo-engravings. The photographs alone in this remarkable collection, if they were on sale, could not be purchased for less than $500.

Every American who loves his Country should possess a copy.

THE NATIONAL GUARD.

Doings of the Boys of the Fifth at Camp Adrian.

CAMP ADRIAN, June 27.—The boys of the Fifth are now settled down as though they meant to stay. Tents have been floored and the men made as comfortable as possible. Company B was brought back from Anita last night and reported all quiet and that they had nothing to do while at the mines, notwithstanding the Pittsburg Times, through one of their reporters who had been afraid to come near to the Fifth regiment when he thought there was any danger, says that the troops were kept busy all day on the 25th to keep the women and children from mobbing the men who went to work; and that the company did succeed in mining some coal at the Adrian mines with the constant aid of the soldiers. The men did go to work, as said in my former letter, at Anita, and were not molested by anyone. Company B, however, was in the immediate vicinity, but was not called upon for any duty. At Adrian there is no one at work in the mines.

Colonel Burchfield, of the Fifth regiment, never asked for blank cartridges from any one. He is here to obey orders from his superiors and is slow to give advice to them, but when he issues orders he expects to have them obeyed and the members of the command know better than to disobey any part of them. This reporter says that the Fifth regiment was slow to assist the sheriff when he brought his deputies into Adrian. The assistance required was promptly given when asked for by the sheriff. The reporter was not here at that time because then he thought that there was danger. He stayed in a safe place and manufactured his news from his fertile imaginative brain. There was at no time any committee of strikers interviewing Colonel Burchfield to have him remove the engineer at the pumps. There was a member of the regiment detailed to pump water to the camp for about twenty hours, but the same position is now filled by one of the company's own men.

The strikers are holding a mass meeting here today to determine whether or not they shall accept the recent offer made by the operators.

There were no shots fired at Anita on June 26. The new workmen are pursuing their labors without molestation from any one, notwithstanding contrary newspaper reports. Numerous reports sent out by paid newspaper reporters are nothing more than fiction, and calculated to excite the fear of interested persons instead of throwing oil upon the troubled waters. All of the Fifth regiment are now in camp there being no occasion for their presence at the mines, as there is no indication of any trouble at this time.

CAMP HITS.

One of the assistant surgeons has in his possession a telescope and devotes much of his time searching among the hills for Hungarians, etc.

A corporal of company A received a bayonet wound in his foot from one of the guards while outside the guard line, talking to some ladies, contrary to order.

A private of company B, in attempting to get away from the guard, leaped down over a coke oven last night and severely injured his spine.

The typhoid fever patient who was sent home to Indiana county yesterday arrived safely at his destination.

Brigadier General John A. Wiley, accompanied by Brigadier Quartermaster Logan, visited the encampment yesterday and were pleased with the sanitary condition of the camp.

Late news states that the old men will go to work tomorrow morning.

Blowing Off Steam.

The wild exclamation of the Socialists in the French chamber during the election of a successor to President Carnot were nothing more than the natural ebullition of men who were trying to be true to their principles as general objectors. According to the United Press reports published in yesterday's PRESS, M. Michelin, a Socialist shouted an absurd demand as soon as the object of the congress to elect a president was announced. It was: "I demand the suppression of the presidency of the republic!" Later, during the vote, another Socialist refused to vote because he believed another presidency would kill the republic. But the vote went on and Cassimir-Perier was elected.

The exclamations of these rampant opponents of a good government do no particular harm, save in that they may excite the passions of other unreasoning creature of their own opinions. But they are not to be regarded as having any serious import. It is only a blowing off of steam.

The Broad Top Region Working.

Philadelphia, June 26.—President Janney, of the Huntingdon and Broad Top Railroad company, was receipt of advices to-day to the effect that all the mines in the Broad Top region have resumed operations and that a large number of the Cumberland and George's Creek miners have also returned to work. President Janney stated that all his advices indicated that as far as the Broad Top and Cumberland regions are concerned the strike is virtually a thing of the past.

The Berwind-White company and the other Central Pennsylvania operators, who decided yesterday to stand by their determination not to pay higher wages than 40 cents a gross toh unless 50 cents should be paid by the operators in competing regions, have not yet been advised of the effect of their ultimatum to the miners, who are given until July to accept or reject the terms offered.

How Do You Use a Fan.

A late number of Harper's Bazar has the following article on "Fans" which every reader should read and tell of it to her lady friends: "A word of caution is in order about the needless use of fans in public places. A woman sitting in her pew at church, or her chair at the theatre or opera, may thoughtlessly incommode the person in front of her or may deal bronchitis or pneumonia to that helpless victim, simply by an indiscreet method of fanning herself. An ice cold stream of air falls on the unprotected neck of the other woman, or on the back of her head. She twists and squirms, and is wrenched beyond her power to describe, but she must endure the discomfort or leave the place. To a sensitive woman the act of leaving a church during service is so formidable that it requires much courage, and besides she dislikes to hurt the feelings of the former who may suspect her reason for going. And when she has paid a high price for a ticket to a performance, she naturally cannot make up her mind to lose both her money and treat. In both instances she remains where she is and takes cold, and, under her breath, rages at the tyrant behind her, fanning relentlessly on, with face of an angel and the energy of a fiend. As it is quite possible to fan one's self without in the least inconveiencing one's neighbors, a word to the wise should be sufficient. No one should ever have on her conscience the burden of inflicting an unnecessary misery on another human being and this business of thoughtlessly fanning on the backs of other people involves so much distress and peril that cannot be too seriously spoken of. It is easy to use one's fan in such a way that the strokes send the air only into one's own face, and not vigorously against the most delicate portion of a neighbor's anatomy.

Everybody Bewildered.

Punxsutawney, June 28.—Both sides to the labor dispute in this district are now bewildered and confused and the possibility of an adjustment of the difference between the men and mine owners appears remote. The Bell, Lewis & Yates miners at Reynoldsville and DuBois resume work this morning, but abandoned their places this evening because the Rochester and Pittsburg Coal Company at Adrian, Walston and other mines refused to recognize the miners' organization. Both companies agreed to pay the district price but the R. and P. company reserved the right to discharge when they pleased. These men therefore refused to continue at work and the employes of the Bell, Lewis & Yates company joined them in another strike.

At a meeting of operators to-day representing 85 per cent. of the central bituminous district, it was agreed that they will not pay over 40 cents per ton of 2,240 pounds, or 35 cents per ton of 2,000 pounds, for digging coal, but agree to advance this rate to 50 cents gross ton or 45 cents net ton May 1, 1895, if the miners give evidence that other competing regions will pay the same rate. This proposition is to be accepted or declined prior to July 7, 1894. The evidence of discontent among the miners is showing in the frequent erreet fights which occur daily.

Assaulted by a Convict.

Baltimore, June 28.—Charles Johnson, a negro convict in the Maryland Penitentary, assaulted Deputy Warden Hamilton late yesterday evening and but for the intervention of another prisoner, would have killed him. The affair occurred in the iron foundry attached to the institution, and created considerable excitement among the prisoners.

Johnson struck the officer on the hand with a shovel, stunning him. When about to strike a second blow, James Collins, white, overpowered the negro and held him until other officers arrived and secured him. Collins has several years to serve, but may be pardoned in recognition of his bravery.

The Milk Turned Sour.

I will not tell you her name, but one of the neighbors says that during her brief visit the other day the milk turned sour. Her countenance looks a yard long. She sighs perpetually. The cloud on her brow is deep. If beaten out thin, I believe it would cover the sky. Her voice is doleful, and her eyes show no radiance. Her wrinkles are numberless. She is a sorry picture, and all because she is the victim of one of those complaints common to women. Her system is deranged. She needs a course of self-treatment with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This will eradicate thoroughly those excruciating periodical pains and functional weaknesses incident to her sex, and at the same time build up and invigorate her whole system by its health-imparting influence. A trial bottle will convince.

To Withdraw Troops.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 28.—Adjt. Gen. Greenland and Col. A. D. Seeley, an aide on the governor's staff, left on the western express to-night for Punxsutawney to arrange for the withdrawal of half the troops on duty in Jefferson county. Four companies each of the Fifth and Sixteenth regiments, and likely the Sherdian troop, will to-morrow be ordered to their homes. Unless the situation changes, Gen. Greenland expects to withdraw all the troops before the close of next week.

DEATH AND DESTRUCTION.

Southwestern Minnesota and Dakota Devastated by Wind Storms.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 28.—Southwestern Minnesota and Eastern South Dakota suffered death and destructions last night by a serious of wind storms already mentioned in these dispatches. Details of the damage done to life and property, which have been coming in slowly, show that ten persons were killed and twenty or thirty injured.

The storms traveled from southeast to northwest in parallel lines, and there were three of unusual severity. The westernmost arose in South Dakota and traversed the east end of the state, striking Alpena, Mellette, St. Lawrence and Aberdeen in its route. So far as known this storm did no damage to life or limb, but caused considerable damage to property and crops. The central storm was terrific. It was first heard of at Pipe Stone, Minn., in the south west corner of the state, where it struck about 6 p. m. Its record there was one killed, one injured and serious damage to property in its course. Its path was from 400 to 600 feet wide. The storm passed over Tracey and Echo, and was next heard of at Renville, where it was forty rods wide and of corresponding intensity of action. There was another victim here besides many injured, and there was great devastation of buildings and property. Litchfield was the next in line. Two were killed and many injured. The north most point in the central part of the storm's path apparently was Collegeville, Stearns county, where the damage was principally to the buildings of St. John's university.

The eastern end of the storm started in at Window, about half past 7 o'clock, or an hour and a half later than the central storm. No great damage was done at this point, but when the storm reached Sleepy Eye, shortly before 8 o'clock its intensity was incalculable. At last one was killed and a number injured. The same storm next struck Glenco, where its work was death dealing. The number of killed and injured there has not been definitely ascertained yet, but the indications are that the wind played as great havoc there as anywhere. Minneapolis caught what was apparently the tail end of this blow. It swept across the city, dipping down to the ground near Lake Harriet and next in New Boston. Telegraph wires are down in many directions and full particulars are difficult to secure.

Tortured by Burglars.

Parker, Pa., June 28.—Early yesterday morning three men broke into the general stores owned by John Howard, two miles from this city. Howard sleeps in the store and before he could offer resistance he was securely bound and gagged. The robbers finding no money, ordered Howard to tell where it was. He refused to answer. Then they held his bare feet over the flames of lamps until he weakened under the torture and told where $170 would be found. The thieves took this and a quantity of goods and left. Howard received other brutal treatment and is in a critical condition.

Pretty Church Wedding.

A very pretty church wedding took place at the Bald Eagle Baptish church, Centre county, Pa., on the 20th instant. The auditorium of the church, which has recently been newly and beautifully fitted up, was tastefully decorated with wild flowers. To the beautiful strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march the interested pastor, Rev. George W. Downing, repeated the beautiful marriage service, which united for life Mr. J. Hartsock, Buffalo Run, to Miss Myrtle E. Robinson of Martha Furnace. After congratulations had been extended by their many friends the wedding party and a large concourse of friends repaired to the house of the bride's father, Mr. Samuel Robinson, where a beautiful and elegant wedding supper was partaken of.

The weather was all that could be desired, the large number of her friends and relatives present and the handsome appearance of both bride and groom made it an occasion long to be remembered.

Lightning's Work.

During the heavy thunder storm which passed over Brush Valley last Saturday afternoon, lightning struck the comb of the roof of Jeremiah Hoy's barn near Madisonburg. Robert Miller, of Millheim, with a horse sought shelter under the overshot at the same time. The bolt came down a rafter. Miller was holding the horse. The lightning killed the horse and knocked Miller down, stunning all the parties under the overshot at the time.

One of Mr. Miller's arms showed marks of severe burns from the electricity. Fortunately the barn was not set on fire.

A Good "Drawer."

It takes a rich man to draw a check, a pretty girl to draw attention, a horse to draw a cart, a porous plaster to draw the skin, a toper to draw a cork, a free lunch to draw a crowd and an advertisement in a newspaper to draw a trade.

Church Wedding At Howard.

The wedding of Mr. Simpson E. Ferree, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, and Miss Belle Holter, of Howard, in the M. E. church at Howard Wednesday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock was a brilliant affair. Rev. N. B. Smith was the officiating clergyman. Mr. Edward Leyden, of Beech Creek, was best man, and the ushers were Frank Holter, brother of the bride; Elmer Snyder, of Lock Haven, Geo. Williams, of Bellefonte, and Harry Stitzer, of Howard. The church was filled with invited guests. The bride and groom left immediately after the ceremony for a bridal tour, which will include a visit to several of the eastern cities.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Handling a Buttonhook.

"In buttoning shoes there is no need to rip off buttons and split out button-holes so often. Half the women don't know how to handle a buttonhook, and that is the trouble," said a clerk who was on his knees trying on a pair of shoes for a customer. "Most women take the buttonhook, and after catching the button in it, turn the hook straight over to force the button through the hole. That is all wrong See how quick the buttons will fly off that way," and he illustrated and sent four buttons flying into the air as a result. "Now do this way. Put the hook through the buttonhole and take hold of the button with it. Then keep the buttonhook flat and swing it around in a half circle, always keeping the hook level where it holds the button. This saves the wear and tear on the buttonhole stitching, and the buttons will stay sewed on four times as long.

Concerning Pensions.

The secretary of the interior, on Tuesday, forwarded to the senate an important statement concerning the suspension of pensioners made by the commissioner of pensions between March 4, 1893, and May 10, 1894. It shows that the number of pensioners whose pensions were suspended and resumed at the same rate during the period was 9509. The number still suspended is 326. The number whose pensions were reduced during the period was 3014, and the number dropped 2671.

VIGOROUS HEALTH FOR MEN

Prof. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED

Pastille

THE PASTILLE CURE FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY TRADE MARK

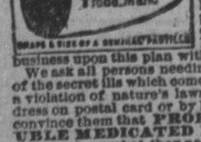
Has been put up in a proprietary form since 1878, and has been used for years prior to that time in private practice. It is no untried nostrum, of doubtful reputation, but a genuine specific for a very prevalent disease. Thousands of men, of all ages, have at some time in life brought on nervous debility and exhaustion, with organic weakness, by over brain work, excesses, too frequent indulgence or indiscretion and vicious habits, and it is to these that we offer a remedy that will, by its direct action upon the seat of the disease, stop the drain and restore the patient to vigorous health and strength.

Our method of introducing Prof. Harris' Pastille treatment is one which commends itself to all sensible persons—for the reason that we supply it upon their judgment of its value. We ask of our patrons nothing in the way of expense beyond a postal card and a two cent postage stamp. The postal card to be used in sending us their full address and the postage stamp for the letter returning the statement of their case for which we supply them with a question blank, to be filled out and an envelope addressed to ourselves for use in returning it when filled.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE.

When we receive the statement on blank we prepare eight days' treatment and forward it by mail and prepay postage thereon—and along with the eight days' treatment we send full directions for using. The treatment in no way interferes with a person's attention to business, and causes no pain or inconvenience in any way.

We are so positive that it will give perfect satisfaction that we leave the matter of sending orders entirely with those using the free trial treatment. Having satisfied those sending for trial packages of our ability to benefit their sexual condition we feel that they are more largely interested than ourselves in continuing the use of the Pastilles. Even then we do not attempt to rob them by demanding high prices. On the contrary, we make the prices as low as possible, and the same to all. They are as follows: $3 for one month; $5 for two months; $7 for three months.



These prices secure the delivery of the Pastilles by mail. If desired by express we leave the patient to pay the charges. For over ten years we have operated our business upon this plan with satisfactory results.

We ask all persons needing treatment for any of the secret ills which come to mankind through a violation of nature's laws to send us their address on postal card or by letter and allow us to convince them that PROF. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED PASTILLES have merit and are what they need.

All communications confidential and should be addressed to

CHILD PLAYS WITH A BLACK-SNAKE.

A Four-Year-Old Tot on Friendly Terms With A Serpent.

On Friday last a little four-year-old son of Will Neff, on Church street, while out in the yard came across a black snake that lay in the grass. The little tot was pleased with his find and stood right over the snake, bending down to have a good look at the stranger, seemingly delighted. The snake lay in a coil, but did not strike at the little one.

The little fellow presently called to his mother to come and see what a pretty thing he had found. Mrs. Neff paid no heed to the child's calls at first, thinking there was nothing requiring her attention. The little boy repeated his calls, and tried to pick up the snake to show his mother, and she finally went to where he was, and to her horror saw him standing over a big black snake, coiled between the feet of the child.

The serpent's head was raised and the forked tongue darting out and in. Mrs. Neff endeavored to make the little fellow understand his danger and frighten him away, but he was pleased with the "pretty thing" and it was only after repeated warnings that he stepped from it and she despatched the snake with a stick. It measured near five feet in length.—Reporter

To Help a Town.

Kick.

Kick hard.

Kick at everything.

Don't pay a cent under any circumstances—advertising or otherwise—and kick continually.

Refuse to enter any combination that will be a benefit to anyone but yourself.

Always spea ill of your competitor in business; kick at the merchants, school teachers, doctors, newspapers, town board and everything else.

Always buy of peddlers, if possible, and give your home merchants the go by.

Speak of your own town as the most immoral place on earth and say a bad word for it every chance you get.

If a stranger comes to town, tell him that everything is overdone and that the town is no good on general principles. This will be a good drawing card to new business and industries.

Stop your home paper; ask your friends to do so, and insist that they take some paper published elsewhere. This will give your home paper a great boom and assist the editor materially, which you must avoid above everything else.

If you are in business don't advertise. Buy a rubber stamp and use that. It may save you a few dimes, and look so much nicer than if printed by an artist.

Kick because you and your friends are not permitted to run the town, and if you run it kick anyway.

He Loved the Butterflies.

It is not often that a man's love for butterflies gets him into such serious trouble as Ludwig G. Goldhorn, formerly cashier of the Mannheim Insurance Company, New York, now finds himself in. Goldhorn forged checks to the amount of $18,000, and last April fled the country. Monday last he was arraigned in court in New York and pleaded guilty. He had been brought from the West Indies. When arrested Goldhorn had in his possession $7,250, some bank checks, five diamond rings, three gold watches and $50 worth of Columbian postage stamps. Goldhorn had lived well while away. He spent a good deal of his time searching for rare birds and butterflies. When captured, he was planning an expedition to the upper waters of the Amazon river to chase butterflies. He is an expert ornithologist and etomologist.

Liquids by Mail.

Washington, June 27.—The question of admission of liquids into the mails has proved a source of considerable annoyance to the postoffice department. Frequent violations of the section of the postal regulations governing the matter have been reported, and the general superintendent of the railway mail service has issued the following notice to all postmasters: "The postal laws and regulations prescribe the conditions under which liquids may be admitted to the mails. The provision should be carefully enforced by all postmasters, who should see that the cases in which such matter is enclosed is watertight, and not less than three-sixteenth of an inch thick."

Strawberries are Beneficial.

Says an exchange: Eat all the strawberries you can. They are most excellent medicine, to say nothing of their nutritive qualities. Do with less meat and spend the money for strawberries while they last. They are a splendid complexion purifier when eaten in quantities and some celebrated beauties have taken what they believed to be beneficial baths in crushed strawberries. They make a good acid wash for the face and a fine dentifrice for the teeth.

Tersely Told Topics.

"There is a tide which, if taken at the flood"—but then the flood subject has become somewhat of a chestnut.

This is the time of year when dogs should be muzzled. There are a great many in this town whose uselessness calls aloud for the muzzle of a gun.

The Ram's Horn says the man who prays too long in public prays too little in private. Our e. c. does not refer to the sugar-coated Senators who preyed in private upon a class of American bread-winners.

The man who howls about the boy who delights in shooting off fire crackers, and declares both boy and custom as enemies to mankind—well, we are glad he wasn't in the majority in 1776, else we would have had no Declaration of Independence.

There is at least one luxury the poor can enjoy without fear of intermeddling by the laying on of its chilling hands by the blunderbus administration, and that is the beautiful concerts of the birds in the morning. The refrains are sweet to the ear, even if the listener has an empty larder.

A medical authority tells us that the man who keeps his feet warm and does not worry is pretty sure to enjoy good health. That accounts for so much sickness during these Cleveland times when so many men in enforced idleness are worrying how to provide necessary foot covering for themselves and their families.

A high tariff on tariff talk and tariff tinkering that would practically be a prohibitive measure on the same, would be of vastly more benefit to the country than anything yet enacted or thought of by the present industry-destroying and beggar-manufacturing incubator of blunders now in session at Washington.

It is timely to ask who is entitled to most of the credit for such a rehabilitation of the public virtue and crushing charge upon the rogues who imagined themselves solidly and securely intrenched behind Tammany breastworks. Who but the lately almost friendless clergyman, Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, who at one time was sneered at and ridiculed as one hardly capable of sound judgment, threatened with bodily injury, dogged by police spies, and about the most unpopular man in New york city! If Tammany is defeated at the next election and the New York police force so purged of rottenness as to warrant the term of the "finest," it will be chiefly owing to the indefatigable, courageous and self-denying efforts of the Yankee minister of the Gospel who was so despised when he set out upon his crusade against official iniquity in New York city.

A Tornado in Kansas.

Wichita, Kansas, June 26.—The tornado that struck the village of Keighley, Butler county, last evening, is known to have caused loss of life, though the telegraph wires are still down and details of the disaster are meagre. Edward Thurman was crushed to death in a stable. Many persons were pinned under falling houses and seriously injured. The tornado swept on its course as far east as the people could see it. The general stores, the largest buildings in the village were entirely demolished. A freight train was standing on the Frisco track at the time and six cars were lifted and turned upside down.

Must Receive Prepaid Mail Matter.

The postoffice department at Washington has sent to all railway mail service employes circulars calling attention to the postal regulations requiring postal clerks to accept prepaid mail matter offered them at their cars and forward to its destination. There was a rumor current that this privilege, long enjoyed by the public, was to be denied it, but this comes from headquarters and will settle the matter for the present. Any postal clerk refusing to receive prepaid mail matter at his car is liable to be dismissed from the service unless special authority has been given him.

Judge Bucher Declines.

Lewisburg, June 27.—Judge Joseph C. Bucher was seen at his home this evening by a representative of the United Press to whom he said that he would not accept the nomination for Congressman-at-Large tendered him to-day by the Democratic state convention.

Judge Bucher gave as his reason for declining, the fact that he got enough of politics when he was defeated for re-election by H. M. McClure in 1891.

An Awful Accusation.

The worst thing that has been said during the Lexow investigation was uttered yesterday by Counsel Goff, that not only were police regulations under the direct control of Tammany, but that the courts themselves were in the hands of this organization to such an extent that a lawyer could not get clients unless he had a pull with it, because the judges dare not offend its members. Mr. Goff said:

I speak of my own knowledge, and I defy successful contradiction. I can tell of clients who have been taken from me because they knew I had not a pull in the courts, and I can point to scores of lawyers who had to get into Tammany Hall in order to retain and protect their clients. There are hundreds of men in this city who are robbed, defrauded and blackmailed who do not carry the matter into the courts because they know they couldn't get justice there. The courts of this city are not controlled by justice, but they are over shadowed by Tammany Hall.

It would be impossible to conceive anything worse than this. The great safeguard of any community is its absolute faith in the purity of its judiciary. When doubt is felt as to that, whether the judges are only police magistrates or members of a higher court, there is no security in the body politic. Then revolution seems to be the only remedy.

THE best investment in real estate is to keep buildings well painted. Paint protects the house and saves repairs. You sometimes want to sell—many a good house has remained unsold for want of paint. The rule should be, though, "the best paint or none." That means

Strictly Pure White Lead

You cannot afford to use cheap paints. To be sure of getting Strictly Pure White Lead, look at the brand; any of these are safe:

"Armstrong & McKelvy,"
"Beymer-Bauman,"

—Oh, what a hot day this has been! Nothing but swelter from morning to night.

—Col W. Fred Reynolds is having his driveway, as well as the entrance thereto, covered with crushed limestone.

—Wasn't Sunday a scorcher in every sense of the word. So hot you could have boiled eggs in the shade without more than half trying.

—Fourteen car loads of coal came to Bellefonte on Friday evening and ten car loads on Saturday evening. This looks as if the strike was settled.

—It required just $9,343.46 to pay the current expenses of Lycoming county for the month of June, and it wasn't a bad month for bills, either.

—The Epworth League made about twenty dollars at its festival Saturday evening. The weather being so warm was quite favorable for the sale of ice cream.

—The farmers are now busy making hay and before this week is ended will be cutting grain. The wheat fields are now quite golden in appearance and in a couple days will be ready for the reaper.

—The plasterers are now hard at work plastering the new house of Mr. Archie Allison on Allegheny street. Archie expects to have everything in readiness to occupy his new home by the first of October.

—Frank H. Reiber, of Butler county; sentenced to the western penitentiary for larceny, was recommended for pardon on Friday. The pardon came too late as he died on Thursday evening of consumption.

—Philipsburg had an incipient strike last Friday when the workmen engaged in paving front street with vitrified brick, who were being paid $1.25 per day, struck for $1.50. They were paid off and left go and other men hired in their places.

—All the soldier boys returned on Monday afternoon at 4.28 from their trip to the Punxy coal regions. The strike is about over, the war is ended and the solders relieved of an uncomfortable business at least. It is to be hoped it will be many years before they will again be called out on such an errand of duty.

—What is home without a newspaper? It is a place where old hats are stuffed into broken windows; where the wife looks like a bag of wool with a string around the centre; where the husband has a tobacco juice panorama painted on the bosom of his shirt, and the neglected children wipe their noses on their jacket sleeves.

—Tyrone had a fire on Monday morning, which entailed a loss of about $2,000. The building badly damaged was a three story brick owned by T. M. T. Symington and occupied by W. G. Scott's five cent store and the restaurant of Mrs. C. M. Graffius, below, and by the families of Mrs. Graffius and Harvey M. Miles in the upper stories. The fire is believed to have been of incendiary origin.

—It is said there is a capital B on every oats blade this year. Several blades have been shown us and the B was there. Now what does it mean? was asked. Don't know, was the response. Who does? Our oats man then said that oats blades bore the B before and during the late war, and he thought it meant blood. It might as well mean beer, bread, Boston baked beans, or biscuit, but we think buncome would suit better. At all events the B was on the blades we saw.—Meyersdale Commercial.

—Large audiences attended the commencement exercises at the Huntingdon Reformatory last Friday afternoon and evening. The work of the inmates was duly appreciated, and the exercises were such as reflected great credit upon instructors and pupils. The Reformatory is certainly doing good work, and the results are manifest in the reports of good conduct and good citizenship that come to the officers of the institution from those who have gone out, but of whom the world never hears because they are quiet and well behaved.

COMPANY B IN CAMP.

A Breezy, Newsy Letter from "Camp Adrian," Near Punxy.

Camp Adrian, June 27, '94.

To the Bellefonte Daily News:

The "sojer," boys are now thoroughly settled in camp, passing through an experience quite similar to that at Homestead, though attended with incidents far more thrilling and exciting than the service at Homestead was. The camp, situated on the hill overlooking the coke ovens and mine worked by the Bell, Lewis & Yates company, also controls the entrance to the field of past industry but almost present idleness, whether by railroad or wagon road, and by reason of the commanding site and the telephone access that has been secured to central points, all movements of the troublesome Huns and Ikes can be easily noted and counter preparations made accordingly. But while the site is advantageous from a military point of view, as for the happiest comfort, it is not quite so favorable. Not only is there not a single shade tree in the camp, but it is necessary to walk some distance before the cooling spring water can be procured. These two points do not contribute to making "Camp Adrian" the coolest place that might have been selected, but of course, in locating a camp at times like these military advantage is the first consideration and everything else becomes of secondary importance.

All travelers passing from the mines to Punxsutawney and from Punxy to the mines pass under the observation of the boys in blue and the result is that all behave themselves quite well. From the time of the early Friday morning experience on the top of the mountain, when we were obliged to leave our cars and disperse a mob of rioters numbering about seven hundred in all, who had stationed themselves on and about a highway railroad bridge to prevent the further advance of the militia into their territory, until the present moment, our service has been one that has called into play at times the best grit and nerve that the boys could command, and as a result has made the trip to, and sojourn at, Camp Adrian at once exciting and interesting. The daily papers have already told you some of the details of our life here but it remains for me to call to your attention two or three incidents that have added a good deal of spice to our military duties.

After spending Sunday, each in his chosen way, the boys began to realize thoroughly that heavy, and perhaps serious, work would be the order during the advancing week. Monday Company B was ordered out to the mining town of Anita, a mile and a half away, where stoning had been done a few days before. The purpose of the order was very probable to show the Huns and other strikers in that vicinity the kind of stuff they would necessarily encounter if they opposed the squad of coal and iron police employed to patrol and guard the property of the operators. And they must have been convinced from the very start that the Pennsylvania boys are formidable soldiers, for they have ever been as quiet and harmless as lambs whenever the blue coats were near by in arms. The Company took possession of the town for a time, performed some military manoeuvers enjoyed the jeering remarks of the Italian women and then returned home leaving the village under the control of the Coal and Iron police. The "Scabs," as they are called, had just been brought to Anita to fill the places of the strikers and it was necessary to place them under police protection, for when the soldiers are not on hand the strikers are quite bold and troublesome and exceedingly hostile to any who are employed to substitute them. Of this foreign element the women are the worst. They seem to realize that the police or military dislike the idea of attacking them, and so they take advantage of it and become more violent than the men, often effecting considerable damage. Several times they have been checked in their work of insult and injury at the point of the bayonet. But to incite the military to fire upon them would require very serious provocation. A squad or Pinkerton men arrived on Sunday evening. They numbered about thirty men in all. When the special car transporting them pulled into the works in the vicinity of the camp a crowd of two thousand men, women and children of the striking force were gathered to welcome them in their characteristic way, by throwing stones and hooting. The women however, as usual did the work, the men standing on the outside urging them on. They made themselves so formidable that the police were afraid to disembark and were consequently shifted back away from the crowd until military protection could be secured. But a few moments and three companies had thrown out a skirmish line and surrounded the entire throng and at the point of the bayonet they drove them out of the place to the hill side where their little settlement is located. The guards remained on duty all night and the next day the Pinkertons were assigned to their posts of duty. It might be well to note right here that very little love exists between the soldiers and the Pinkertons. This dislike is very prominent on the part of the militia in whose ranks are hundreds of honest laborers who have no use at all for many of these men who, as is known, in many cases are selected, not from the ranks of sturdy men, but from the Boweries and gutters of our large cities. No fact there is such a feeling of antipathy for them that in several instances it has required careful engineering on the part of the Commanders to prevent a collision. And well it is that they have been kept apart, for a single shot fired would have led to very deadly work. These Pinkertons are not only very unpopular with the soldiers but also with the strikers. As a rule the latter received the soldiers very well, at times gathering around them and explaining their troubles and receiving considerable sympathy, and as the soldiers crack their jokes and play their tricks the appreciation on the part of the strikers is generous indeed. But the Pinkertons are the victims continually of their jeers and mockeries and hootings and unquestionably but for the presence of the military they would long ago have been the victims of clubs and guns and revolvers which the strikers have in plenty. And the "Pinkertons" must believe this themselves for they always seem glad when the military guards are near. Now as for the distinctly foreign element among the strikers, the boys in blue have nothing but feelings of opposition—to them, it is believed, most of our trouble with wages are due, and they have no use for them. Judging from the expressions made on every hand nothing would have delighted the "boys" more than an opportunity to open fire and clean out a couple of thousand. Truly it has been the disappointment of the boys ever since they left home that the bold and fearless Huns could not keep up their courage in the face of the soldiery and give them a chance to show what sort of men the Penna. Military boasts of. This feeling is as manifest towards the recently imported "scabs" as to the striking foreigners but, of course, true soldiers obey orders and they are protecting these "scabs" though under silent protest.

On Tuesday it was feared that serious trouble would occur when the operators would attempt to put the new men at work and so it became necessary to call upon soldiers able to suppress such a trouble and send them early in the morning to the scene of possible conflict. Col Burchfield knew it required the best stuff he had in the regiment to protect the workmen as, if any collision would happen at all, and an, deadly work be done, it would come now. But a moment's consideration decided the matter, for as in times past, so now the Colonel realized that Co. "B" could do the work, if any company could, and to them he issued orders to be ready at six o'clock on Tuesday morning to be taken on flat cars to mine No. 11, operated by Berwind White & Co. and protect the "scabs" against all attacks. At the appointed hour every man was in his place and for two miles we passed through a hilly country beset with Huns and every form of hostile foreign element, not knowing at what second we might be fired upon from the hills; at the approach of the train the foreigners hastened near from every quarter. Lined up in single rank on both sides of the cars, and on our knees, with guns loaded, we carefully and watchfully passed along and not a shot was fired, for the strikers stand in perfect awe and fear of the soldiers and will not risk the results of an attack of a full regiment of militia. It was a good test for the soldiers and they displayed the requisite amount of nerve and grit to the satisfaction of all. Upon reaching Anita we were joined by the Sheridan troop. Here we disembarked, marched to the villiage on the hill where the new men were stored away, as it were, in the Company houses and found them, about 100 in all, equipped with new white breeches, dinner pails and new lights in their hats waiting in fear to be escorted to the mines under strong protection. While in the villiage the "Pinkies" did the guarding amidst very annoying circumstances as intimated before. Company "B" was formed into two platoons, one in front and the other in rear of the "scabs," while the Sheridan troop guarded on either side, and thus we marched the new men to the cars and proceeded another mile up the road through treacherous country, but no one dared to oppose or fire upon us. Arriving at mine No. 11 the first platoon under command of Lieutenant Reeder, guarded at the top of the hill and the second platoon stationed at the foot was commanded by Second Lieutenant Hugh Taylor; Captain Reber, of course, was in charge of the company. This was the critical time of our stay here and company B got a taste of practical service that will not soon be forgotten. It was this trip which led to action on the part of the highest authorities of the regiment that has caused the profoundest regret with every officer and member of the company. Not that they would criticise Col. Burchfield, for he is regarded by one and all as worthy and capable as any colonel in the brigade, and they realize that as the commanding officer he must do whatever his judgment dictates without regard for officer or company. But in this case it is thought that upon careful investigation the facts will disclose that the demand for Lieut. Taylor's resignation was not reasonably warranted, and when these facts are brought out no one will be more ready to let justice have her perfect sway than our much esteemed and respected colonel of the Fifth regiment, who is every inch a soldier of the highest character. It must be remembered that in times of excitement a man's spirit is restless, it must have vent in action—whether it takes the form of serious warfare or of active fun, and the boys were possessed of such a spirit as they lay for hours on guard about the mine. The enemy appeared not—something must be done to appease this restless spirit. The opportunity is offered. There are blacksmiths, carpenters, mule drivers, mechanics and farmers in the crowd and all victors whose heartfelt motto is "to the victors belong the spoils." There are also at hand blacksmith shops, carpenters's tools, all sorts of mechanical instruments and mules for the driver of Hampton Roads. All apply themselves to their respective trades and infuse an industrious life to the recent corpse of idleness. Smoke from newly lighted furnaces rolls up to the sky, the music of the anvil and hammer is heard once again, the rumbling of the dump cars echoes as before through the buildings and the shouts and laughter of happy workmen make merry all around, while far within the mines, the "scabs" are busy preparing for work, little conscious of the efforts of our military experts. Telephone wires that transmitted news from point to point in days of activity, but long since silent from the shut down, begin to vibrate once more and send the news far and wide of a terrible conflict that never happened in which three men of company B two "Pinkies" and one Italian (not battalion is the agent at the other end of the line as supposed to have understood it and reported) were wiped out of existence.

Naturally enough in this combination of fun and excitement tools were misplaced, lost and even twisted, and that by no means pleased the operator, who seemingly oblivious of the fact that for the presence of company B, they would not be on the point of operating their mines again, appealed to the colonel that every tool should be restored to its accustomed place, at the same time suggesting that the boys should be disciplined.

In the cool of the evening the "scabs" are escorted back to their quarters passing through an immense crowd of gathered strikers and as we move along here and there the question is submitted to some disgusted looking Hun "now throw your stones and hit the "scabs" and Pinkies," and the answer comes echoeing back every time, "No, no, Uncle Sam help 'em. Wait till sojers go, then we kill and shootee 'em." And such seems to be the feeling of them all and because of this manifestation it makes it very uncertain as to when the troops will be withdrawn. Wednesday the Coal and Iron police took charge and up to the present writing it has not been necessary to call for the protection of company B. It was when we arrived in camp on Tuesday evening that we were made aware of the fact that Col. Burchfield had requested Lieut. Taylor to resign. And on the ground that there was a lack of discipline involved in the possession of the boys of the second platoon took of the company's works to run them by their own sweet will and that the officer in command—Lieut. Taylor—was responsible for it and therefore to vindicate perfect discipline, the resignation was asked for. But to the great delight and approval of all Hughy flatly refused to resign, submitting that the lack of discipline had not been sufficient, as far as he could be held responsible, to make his resignation either fitting or necessary, and so the matter stands, the hope and belief prevailing all through the regiment that all will be sweet and lovely bye and bye. Of course, all interested experience the regret that there was even the faintest ground for such a request emanating from the colonel and they most emphatically uphold Lieut. Taylor in his refusal to accede to it. Not only every member of the regiment who has taken any notice of Taylor's work on the field or at quarters, but every officer and member of company B who know him best, have always regarded him as a perfect type of the true and competent soldier and as they have watched him advance step by step and meritoriously, too, from high private in the rear rank to corporal, and thence to sergeant and again to the first sergeant of the company, and finally to the higher position still of second lieutenant of the company, it has been the deep conviction of all that nothing could stand in the way of the advancement of a man of such coldierly ability to the highest honors in the military domain. Hugh has always been popular and is always respected and if dame fate does not say no, his friends, when the proper time comes, will show their appreciation of his good work by voting him into those positions of honor to which his worthy ambition leads him to aspire. And some day bye and bye all will see that his friends have not misplaced their confidence. Hughy has the highest regard for higher authority—he could not feel otherwise—and so he patiently and cheerfully awaits the time when the troubled waters will be made calm and right and justice reign supreme and so wait we all. He needs but keep his mouth closed for his many friends do speak for him. The best of all is that ill feeling plays no part in the difficulty.

The boys are all having a good old-fashioned camp time and are remarkably well considering many of the circumstances that surrounds them. Very few sick men are in camp despite the hard drill work on hill and hollow that is done each passing day. Very few strangers are allowed in camp, and very few soldiers are permitted without the lines. Of course a few of the boys succeed in reaching Punxy occasionally on missions of business, but it is too far away and orders are too rigid to encourage much Punxy visiting. The daily routine is attended by the wonted camp tricks and pleasures and taken all together we are having a spicy time. The weather has been quite favorable and that is always a desirable condition of affairs.

Catholics to Picnic.

The next picnic to be held at Hunter's Park will be by the Catholic congregation of this place and will be held on Wednesday, July 11th. As is a well known fact that whenever our Catholic brethren undertake to do a thing they generally do it right, and their picnics are always as largely attended, if not larger, than any others. An excellent dinner will be served on the ground for 50 cents and just as good a supper for 25 cents, the proceeds to be devoted to the completion of the new parsonage. Everybody is cordially invited to attend. Remember the day and date, Wednesday, July 11th.

THE BOROUGH DADS.

What Was Done at Council Meeting Monday Night.

It was just ten minutes of eight o'clock when President Miller called the borough council to order, members Miller, Gerberich, Hillibish, Williams, Brockerhoff and Garman being present. Clerk Isaac Mitchell read the minutes of the previous session which were approved as read.

There were no verbal nor written communications. The Street committee reported considerable work done on the streets during the last two weeks. The two foot bridges washed away by the recent high waters have been replaced.

The Water committee reported two fire plugs and a number of leaks repaired, also that they were now getting all the coal—of good quality—needed, and that the pumps are now being run day and night, in order to keep the reservoir full It is not thought this will be necessary after they get in a good supply of coal.

The Fire and Police committee had no report to make. The market committee reported $7.70 market fees collected during the past two weeks. No report from the Nuisance committee.

The finance committee recommended the same millage for the ensuing year as was laid last year, which was 2 mills for borough, 3 mills for street and 6 mills for interest, with the same schedule or basis for the water tax. On motion of Mr. Hillibish the recommendation was adopted.

The borough treasurer reported balance due him at $6,382.74. On his report that there was no money with which to pay the bills passed council authorized him to negotiate a loan for the payment of same.

With the approval of the following bills council adjourned:

Death of Mrs. Catherine Hafer.

Dr. A. W. Hafer on Monday afternoon received a telegram announcing the death of his mother, Mrs. Catherine Hafer, which occurred obout noon on Monday, at the home of her daughter, Mrs Mary A. Kuhn, in Ridgley, Maryland. Mrs. Hafer was aged about 82 years.

She was born in Miles township, this county, and was raised and lived there all her life up to about one year ago, when she went to Maryland to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Kuhn. She was the mother of five children, three daughters and two sons, four of whom are living and one dead. The children are Mrs. Elizabeth Tate, of Coleville; Mrs. Mary Kuhn, of Ridgley, Md.; Mrs. Louiss Poorman, wife of William H. Poorman, who died about thirteen years ago; Dr. A. W. Hafer, of Bellefonte, and John W. Hafer, of Osceola Mills, this county. Deceased's husband's name was Moses Hafer, who was killed in a woolen factory in Miles township forty-one years ago. Mrs. Hafer's parents and grandparents were born and lived all their lives in this county. Deceased, who was one of the oldest persons in the county, was a member of the Evangelical church. It was her request that she be buried in Centre county, and the remains will be brought here and interment made near her old home in Miles township.

Losses From the Strike.

The Berwin-White mining company's loss by the strike cannot be estimated. As an indication, General Superintendent Fisher has stated: "The Pocahontas, Va., operators secured the ocean steamship contracts by making the ship owners sign contracts to buy Virginia coal for one year before they would sell a dollar's worth to them. The Berwind White people could not guarantee to deliver all the coal ships consumed on account of the strike and thereby lost the business." Mr. Fisher said the loss to the district to date was about 600,000 tons.

An Honest Preparation.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy will do all that is claimed for it. "I was a sufferer for years with dyspepsia and kidney complaint. Favorite Remedy cured me."

Of all diseases is impure blood, when loaded with foul humor. How important, then that the blood should be pure, rich, and strong, without which there can be no health. To purify the blood Sulphur Bitters is comparatively the best medicine that it is possible to obtain.—The Editor.
